Wine Talk
by Archie Browne

DO YOU KNOW WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU COOK WITH WINE?

The use of wine in cooking enhances the flavor of even the simplest dish and produces a delightful aroma which helps to intensify the enjoyment of the food itself. You do not have to be a professional chef in order to use wine in cooking. Just as a good cook uses herbs for flavoring, wine too can produce dishes that will be culinary delights and make an ordinary platter a gourmet dish.

However, there should never be so much wine that it overwhelms the flavor of the other ingredients in the dish. Don't worry about the alcohol in the wine. The alcohol evaporates in the first few minutes of cooking and only the flavor of the wine remains. Wine is a wonderful and natural tenderizing agent, and makes the most inextinguishable cuts of meat taste better. Have you ever tried fruits soaked in a light wine like a fruity rose or a fortified wine like Port or Sherry? Try it, you'll like it. As to so-called cooking sherries, forget it! There is no such thing. Wine that is not good enough to drink is not good enough to eat. Cooking sherry is simply sherry heavily salted so that it is not fit to drink and can be sold in food stores. All cooking sherry does for a dish is to load it with salt. If sherry is to be used in cooking, why not use the real McCoy? Bon appetit.

Come in. We'll cheerfully help you choose the right selection from our large stock.

GOTTLIEB RESIGNS
Over Housing Plan. All 13 members of the Planning Board voted Tuesday night to ask Golda Gottlieb to reconsider her unexpected resignation last week.

At the suggestion of Martin P. Lombardo, the board decided to send a delegation to Mrs. Gottlieb -- president Margen Penick, Elizabeth Hutter and Mr. Lombardo -- underscoring a resolution in which she was referred to as the board's "in-house" expert on housing, with an "indispensable" wealth of knowledge and experience.

"Strong representation for many views across the broad spectrum of planning," are required, the resolution stated, and Mrs. Gottlieb's "informed judgment" offers the strongest possible representation now available to the board.

Abruptly, at Thursday's meeting, Mrs. Gottlieb read a prepared statement of resignation and walked out of the meeting. She had served on the housing sub-committee for six years, most recently as its chairman. In Mrs. Gottlieb's view, the proposed housing plan -- adopted unanimously by the board Tuesday night -- is so general it cannot serve as a guide, and reduces the possibility of low and moderate-income housing, especially a housing "mix" within a development.

"If I'm on the outside," she said later, "maybe I can coalesce whatever housing constituency there is, and be more effective than I could be on the board."

Hans K. Sander, former board chairman who was not present Thursday, expressed agreement with Mrs. Gottlieb Tuesday night.

"It's a lowest-common-denominator plan," he said bluntly. "Just to get us off dead center."

Repeatedly, he criticized lack of specifics and colleague Jerome Rose told him the plan was only to establish "general principles" in housing.

William H. Walker said he, too, agreed with Mrs. Gottlieb and characterized the plan as "compromised and watered down to one helluva extent."

Mrs. Penick defended the philosophy of general principles by saying, "If the public hates a certain concept, we'd have spent a lot of needless time on it. If they like it, then we can come back with figures."

The board would like to wrap up a land-use Master Plan quickly, and perhaps present both to the public for informal meetings early in the fall. However, the law requires formal hearing for adoption of a housing -- or any Master Plan.

"In case the sewer moratorium is lifted," warned Mr. Sander, "I want something on the books that has standing and public information meetings do not."

The Winners. "Yes, it's a victory for the environmentalists," Mrs. Gottlieb said after her resignation, "for the people who say 'let's not make any more changes than we have to, and keep things the same old way.'"

"I am very excited about the plan," said board president Margen Penick. "It focuses on promoting, preserving and enhancing Princeton's unique community life, with emphasis on forming small neighborhoods, emphasis on small-town life and forming accommodations for people of all income-levels."

In her resignation statement presented to the board last Thursday, Mrs. Gottlieb said the present housing document "represents a major change in the board's thinking -- from a concept of concentration of higher-density development to achieve variety, income-mix and economies of scale, to a concept of scattered, small development throughout the community."

Smallness isn't economically feasible nor socially possible, she said, adding that housing will now come second to the land-use element, "instead of vice versa. It makes very remote the possibility of getting low and moderate-income housing integrated into developments."

She added that the plan "is so general it's almost meaningless."

Mrs. Penick, on the other hand, points to these highlights as reasons for her support.

● The plan encourages home ownership by low and moderate-income families -- a new aspect.

● It would allocate land for "least-cost" housing: single-family on small lots, two-family on moderate lots, multi-family and modular units.

● It recommends a legal mechanism -- an agency -- to handle subsidized rental units, and re-sale prices, so that prices won't zoom the minute the first owner sells. The agency would have the authority to select qualified buyers and tenants.

● Borough and Township could acquire property for subsidized housing and not wait for a developer to come along. This could be done through the agency, or private groups like Princeton Community Housing.

● Through MPMPD (Mandatory Percentage of Moderately Priced Dwellings), a developer would be given a density bonus -- allowed to build at a greater density of houses -- in return for a proportion of low-cost units. The local ordinance would control the kind of low-cost units. This housing would be shopping, transportation and similar facilities.

● Energy efficiency would be encouraged in construction, especially for low income units.

"I frankly think a lot of these concepts ARE very specific," Mrs. Penick said. Actual numbers -- of units, acreage and so on -- can be added later, after the public has had a chance to comment, she said.

Award to Penick

Margen Penick, chairwoman of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, received a citation for "outstanding effort in historical preservation" last week from the New Jersey Historical Society.

The award was presented in recognition of Mrs. Penick's work on the Canal Commission in preserving the Delaware and Raritan Canal. It was shared jointly with Ronald Bond, current president of the Canal Coalition, and was presented at a Society dinner-dance last Thursday at "Morven."

The plan provides that most apartments in high-density units be small, with a definite percentage set aside, however, for larger families.

"We're all agreed we have to move as fast as possible," Mrs. Penick said Tuesday night, and Mr. Rose said, "Yes it is a vulnerable policy, but we knowingly settled for less. We wanted an agreement on housing policies."

"The environmental people were a key element," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley.

DNA REPORT READY
Public Hearing June 8.
Eight of the 11 members of the DNA citizens committee state that re-combinant DNA research should be allowed in Borough or Township under severe restrictions.

A 34-page report detailing their four-month study will be available in Township and Borough Halls in advance of the public hearing next Wednesday, June 8, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

A minority report, longer than the majority report, and signed by three members of the committee, is part of the complete document.

In a brief statement of its conclusions, the majority states that they find "research with artificially re-combinant DNA conducted under the restrictions recommended in this report is fully compatible with the health and safety of the members of the Princeton Community."

Princeton University, therefore, should be permitted to go ahead with plans for research at levels of containment through "P-3." Anyone else who wants to do such research, should be restricted in the same way, the report says.

Requirements Listed. Basically, the report would require both National Institutes of Health and Princeton University guidelines. Anyone who wanted to pursue DNA research would have to register with Borough or Township and establish an institutional Biohazards Committee -- including two public members who would participate fully in overseeing and review, make periodic reports -- especially if danger seems likely -- and report promptly any departure from standards, and "departure" is specifically defined.

In addition, the committee recommends that the institution either provide or obtain under contract a required training program for everybody involved with DNA; set up a system for monitoring labs and personnel; make regular tests to determine what researchers are working on and how pure the materials are and develop a system for documenting and logging samples of DNA brought into the lab.

A standing joint Borough-Township Biohazards Committee would make sure adequate training programs are set up and used, would run an education program for the public, work out ways to do the kind of medical and technical monitoring that would be necessary, and so on.

The majority report lists the intellectual, medical, agricultural, and industrial benefits that could come from this research, and concludes by saying, "Our present society is surely imperfect enough so that we can look to the prospect of profound change with hope as well as with fear."

The Minority View. The three-member minority recommends that the governing bodies not allow this research at this time, and that the University be urged to withdraw. The minority also urges the two governing bodies to ask Congress for a national moratorium until a

Reception to Honor Edith Francis

The Princeton Regional Schools' PTO Council invites the public to join in a reception honoring Mrs. Edith Francis on Wednesday, June 8, from 3 to 5 in the John Witherspoon Commons.

The council wishes to acknowledge and thank Mrs. Francis for the contribution she has made to the school system and the community during her year as Acting Superintendent. Refreshments will be served.

national strategy has been developed.

The minority signers are Susanna Waterman, Emma Epps and Wallace Alston. Majority signers are Freeman J. Dyson, Suzanne S. Fremon (chairman of the committee), David H. Fulmer, Harold G. Logan, Carl A. Price, Suzanne Starr and Joseph S. Wisnowsky. Hessa Taft declined to support the statement that research is fully compatible with the health and safety of the community, but supported the view that the University and other institutions should be allowed to proceed, under restrictions.

SUPREME COURT: "NO"

On Tax-Exempt Lands. The New Jersey State Supreme Court has told Princeton Township it will not consider the Township's case against two property-owners who claim tax exemption for open space portions of their property.

The Township lost in court against the Institute for Advanced Study and All Saints Church and had asked the Supreme Court to consider the case. The Township believed the question had state-wide implications which the Supreme Court would wish to ponder.

Allen Porter, who served as attorney for the Township in this instance, has told Committee the denial "effectively concludes this litigation." He will report to Committee at this Wednesday's 8 p.m. meeting.

Also at this meeting, Committee will introduce an amendment to the anti-noise ordinance covering largely non-residential noise-producers like air-conditioners and construction equipment.

In its work session, Committee expects to consider Gibbs & Hill's request for zoning amendments to construct some 600 apartments and homes in the northern Township.

Committee will also hear HUD's response to a letter of complaint from a Township resident about the Yedlin public housing project now under construction. HUD's letter says the agency is satisfied that all requirements regarding drainage and the like, are being met and that there are no deviations.

HOUSING APPEAL SET

For This Wednesday. Speakers representing the Princeton Housing Coalition will address Borough Council this Wednesday in the Coalition's appeal from Planning Board approval of Princeton University's life-sciences building on William Street.

Council expects to hear the Coalition at about 8:30 p.m., following a liquor case appeal.

Robert Hosford, of the Coalition, said this week that his group will question whether site-plan criteria have been met by the University. He cited particularly the landscaping and historic criteria, pointing to the possibility that the four houses to be displaced by the lab. are either "historic" or of "historical" significance.

Over 4,000 Alumni to Return This Weekend; University's 230th Commencement Tuesday

Reunion weekend at Princeton University is here again, that annual event when Nassau Street is clogged with cars from every state, and colorfully costumed alumni and their families meander along the sidewalks.

More than 4,000 alumni are expected to return to Old Nassau this year, bringing with them family and friends for a total of some 10,000 people. The sizeable turnout is attributed in part to larger classes and in part to the increasing enthusiasm for the mixture of frivolity and earnestness that Reunions provide.

The Class of 1952, this year's 25th reunion class, expects around 300 classmates to return; so does the Class of 1972, celebrating its first major reunion. The two classes will battle in tug-of-war on Saturday morning, renewing the traditional rivalry between Princeton classes 20 years apart.

In addition to attending the faculty lecture series and participating in the sports events against each other or under-graduate athletes, alumni will have an opportunity to see Princeton and Princetonians in the movies. The Reunion Film Festival will present the best of Hollywood productions which feature or portray Princetonians.

The Faculty-Alumni Forum Program will use as its point of departure a major news event from the graduating year of each of the major reunion classes from 1927-1972. Among the 10 events selected are the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, the elections of Franklin Roosevelt and Dwight Eisenhower, the Sputnik launch and the Watergate burglary.

The P-Rade will begin Saturday at 2, with the 25th reunion class leading the way, followed by the oldest class down to the youngest. Halsted (Jiggs) Little of the Class of '01 expects to be on hand to lead the chronological procession. At the other end of the line, the Class of 1977 will march for the first time.

Commencement Follows. By Sunday morning, alumni will be departing and the focus will be on the commencement ceremonies for the 965 students in the graduating class. The Baccalaureate Service will be held Sunday at 11 in the Chapel, with the Rev. Dr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University for 24 years, the speaker.

Class Day on Monday will include ceremonies on Canon Green behind Nassau Hall culminating in the traditional smashing of clay pipes against the cannon. Departmental receptions will occupy most of the afternoon, and at 7 the seniors will gather on the steps of Nassau Hall to join in the Step Sing. The Senior Promenade will begin at 9 in the Jadwin-Fine Plaza.

The 230th annual Commencement will be held Tuesday at 11 in front of Nassau Hall, or in Jadwin Gym in case of rain. Prof. Howard Menand Jr., retiring this year after 30 years as commencement "rain marshal," says that during this time it has rained only once — in 1962, when he was on sabbatical leave.

Following the Latin salutatory address, traditionally punctuated by graduates' laughter, Dean of the College Neil L. Rudenstine will introduce the candidates for bachelor's degrees. President William G. Bowen will confer the degrees in the traditional Latin, and after the valedictory oration, advanced and honorary degrees will be conferred.

SCHOOL BOARD ACTIONS
In Personnel, Staff Development. Praising Ralph Heyman as they unanimously wiped out his job, the school board last Tuesday (after press time), eliminated the position of Assistant to the Superintendent and created the new one of Assistant Superintendent.

The board also approved, 5-4, a Released Time ("Wednesday") Program for staff. It will be held every Wednesday in the school year except for parent-conference days. "No" votes were cast by Winthrop Pike, Gail Firestone, Dale Madden and Judith Getis.

Because the meter begins to tick every time someone calls the board's attorney, Thomas Cook, for information, the board passed a resolution setting limits to consultation with the attorney. If he submits bills for legal advice to people who haven't been authorized, either by the board president or the superintendent, they won't be paid. Mr. Cook's fee is $70 an hour.

The board was unable to decide how to achieve a needed $10,000 reduction in high school administrative salaries. It voted down (a tie plus an abstention) a proposal to eliminate a secretarial job at $8,000, reduce department heads to three for a $5,000 saving and create instead six Teacher Coordinator positions at a cost of $3,000.

The appointment of one student representative — high school — to the board was introduced as a policy for June discussion.

Rosalind Frisch said she'd rather have several students sitting on board committees, where they might learn more and Joan Doig agreed. Errors in high school newspaper stories seem to indicate lack of proper information, Mrs. Frisch said.

From the audience, Sally McFarlane asked why a student representative and not a teacher representative, or someone from any other group.

Students are sometimes shy, Mrs. Doig replied, "If somebody from the staff or a community group has a gripe, they'll come and tell us about it. A student might not want to."

HEARING DATE SET
For Hospital Plans. Parking garage plans developed by the Princeton Medical Center will be the only item on the agenda at a special meeting of the Township Zoning Board Tuesday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Township Hall.

The board agreed unanimously with the Planning Board's request to schedule the hearing at a date following the June 6 Planning Board meeting.

In other business last week, the Zoning Board set this Sunday at 4:30 as the date and time for a gathering at the 168 Hickory Court home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Tenney to discuss the Tenney's request for variances. The public is invited.

50th REUNION SET
By High School Class. The Class of 1927 at Princeton High School will hold a 50th reunion dinner Saturday, June 11, at the Nassau Inn.

Cocktails will be served from 6:30 to 7:30 from a cash bar, followed by dinner and a talk by Elric J. Endersby. Mr. Endersby is organizer of "Townpeople" gatherings to collect oral history of Princeton and editor of "The Recollector" in which the reminiscences are published.

A committee of 12 under the chairmanship of Edwin L. Kimble has been working for two years to collect current names and addresses of class members. Invitations have been extended to members of the classes of 1926 and 1928 as well, and four faculty members and an athletics teacher and his wife are expected to attend. Individuals in any of those three classes and teachers who may have been overlooked are invited to call Lester D. Applegate, treasurer of the reunion, at 452-2532 to make a reservation.

What June Feels Like
When June comes 'round
I come alive!
Climb 'way up high
And take the dive!

Any dive today would mean a rough landing. The last day in May that brought rain was the 18th, and not much accumulated that evening. Total deficiency for the month was close to two inches.

May made news in another sense, too: all those minus degrees that began accumulating in early January have finally been erased, and 1977 is now just a shade above normal since the first of the year.

The Man thinks there is a small possibility that the new month will bring showers on its first day. They're on the map south of here - about an even chance of some rainfall before sunset, he reports. Thereafter, generally fair weather into the weekend, with temperatures ranging from the mid 50s at night to the low 80s by day.

The committee also includes F. Karl Bohn, Raymond A. Bowers, Frederick R. Langdown, William J. Lowe, R. Douglas MacNamee who will be M.C. for the occasion; Elsie Wright Skillman, John F. Skillman, Olga Thielgard Smith, Edward G. Warren and Edgar S. Updike.

OPEN SEASON ON BIKES
Police Charge Six with Theft. "You might say we were inundated by bike thieves," commented Chief Michael Carnevale.

Borough police indeed were kept busy assisting university proctors in three bike thefts - all on Friday. All the suspects are Trenton residents.

At 10:39, proctors reported two youths attempting to steal a 10-speed bicycle behind McCosh Infirmary. Police were provided a description and the two suspects were found a short time later in the area.

The pair, 10 and 14, students at Junior 5 in Trenton, had attempted, police said, to break the bike's lock with a sledge hammer. They were turned over to the truant officer.

At 1:20 p.m., Ptl. William Fitch, stopped two youths, 13 and 15, on University Place at Dickinson.

Both had bicycles in their possession, which a subsequent police investigation revealed had been stolen from outside Dillon gym. The youths were also turned over to the truant officer in Trenton where they will be charged with juvenile delinquency.

Still later, at 3:24, proctors reported the theft of a bicycle at Dickinson Hall. The suspects were seen on Nassau Street by the owner, who provided police with their description and a description of the bike.

Twelve minutes later, the two, age 13 and 14, were apprehended by Sgt. Thomas Michaud and Det. Timothy Huizing on Alexander Street near University Place. They were processed by Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watson.

FOR PLANNERS...
98-Acre Plot, Hospital. Plans of Nassau Capital Associates for development of 98 acres at Cherry Hill and Stuart Roads will be presented in sketch platform for public discussion when the Planning Board holds its June meeting at 8 p.m. Monday. The usual first-Tuesday meeting was rescheduled because of primary elections.

The board will also consider conditional use and site plans for the Princeton Medical Center's parking garage, and the referral of the Center's application to the Township Zoning Board for use variances and site plan approval.

TAX COLLECTOR NAMED
For Borough. Decimus Marsh of Hamilton Township, has been appointed deputy tax collector-treasurer of the Borough. He succeeds Edward Lacey, who in turn succeeded Lawrence Patterson when Mr. Patterson retired in January of this year. Mr. Lacey has taken a job with the Federal government in Washington. Mr. Marsh, who has been with a Trenton firm of municipal auditors, will start work June 24. His title is one held by Mr. Patterson in the early years of his occupancy of the tax office. By law, the collector is an elected position and in the Borough, it currently pays $100 a year. This fall, a single, unopposed candidate agreed on by both Republicans and Democrats, will be on the ballot.

ALCOHOLISM IS TOPIC
Of Public TV Program. The growing problem of teenage alcoholics will be discussed on "Focal Point" on New Jersey Public Television Sunday at 7:30 p.m., and Saturday, June 11, at 6 p.m. with hostess Joan Bennett, program specialists from the Alcoholism Control Program of Princeton, and two teen-age alcoholics.

The teenagers will delve into the reasons for their physiological as well as psychological dependencies on liquor. The panelists will explore the problem from a statistical point of view and help viewers understand preventive education and treatment necessary to help alcoholics in overcoming the mental entrapment which ensues after habitual alcoholic consumption.

Seminar in Three Parts Taking Place Here To Look Into Facts on Cost of Health Care

The cost of a day in Princeton hospital is "the best buy in town," an audience of 50 heard Medical Center President John W. Kauffman say last Thursday night. It was the first of three sessions on health-care costs sponsored jointly by the Center, the Council of Community Services, the Princeton Regional Health Commission and the Public Library.

The second session will be held this Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at the library. The public is invited.

"Hospitals are looking forward to a change in administration in Trenton," Mr. Kauffman told the audience. "Health Commissioner (Joanne) Findley has been unfair, unreasonable and untouchable."

He related the bureaucratic maze leading to final determinations by the state of what hospital rates are to be.

In Princeton, where the cost per day is $179.26, the average patient stays in the hospital only six days. The state-wide average is $150 a day, but the average stay is eight days.

"We'd do better financially with Blue Cross to let our patients stay eight days," Mr. Kauffman said. "One reason our cost is higher is that it costs more to cram lab tests and so on, into six days."

Cost Breakdown. The state controls 71 percent of the hospital's source of income, he said; the 37 percent that comes from Blue Cross, 32 percent from Medicare and 2 percent from Medicaid.

Patients with commercial insurance—probably paid for by their companies—contribute 20 percent, and those who are "self-paying" account for two percent. Both of the latter pay the hospital's average charge of $205 a day.

In the medical-surgical wards, the 170 beds are "over 100 percent" full; there is a waiting list and three solariums are used. But only 54 percent of pediatrics and 75 percent of maternity beds are filled.

"...but you can't cut back on your maternity staff just because the beds were only 23 percent full one week," Mr. Kauffman pointed out.

"The state's computerized methodology told us we were only going to get 5.4 percent more from Blue Cross this year. The hospitals went to court over that and the court ruled it out. We're now waiting for a new figure. Believe me, when President Carter said the increase should be held to 9.4 percent—in New Jersey, that looked good!"

He also cited Mercer County's cut of $800,000 for indigent care to $600,000. ("For us, that's $35-$40 a day.") and quoted Freeholders as saying to municipalities, "It's your problem."

"We'd like to expand Medicaid eligibility," said Dennis Doody, the Medical Center's executive vice-president. "A man has an income of $6,500 a year, owns his own home, has five in his family. He'd be 'medically indigent,' but he couldn't get Medicaid."

In a break-down of costs, Mr. Kauffman and Mr. Doody showed that nursing care receives the most: 21.6 percent, followed by plant-maintenance with 9.8 percent; fringe benefits and pensions, 7.8 percent; laboratory with 6.6 and dietary with 6.1 percent.

"Our books are open to public scrutiny" Mr. Kauffman said.

GAMES GALORE

For Children At Fete. The children's area at the Royal Fete is a carnival, amusement park and children's zoo all rolled into one. A great variety of activity is planned by Co-chairmen Jean Cassen and Pat Hillier to please the young and the young-at-heart on June 11 at the Washington Road Field.

There are many games of skill at which an accurate throwing arm will win a prize at china smash, milk can toss, bowling, ball roll, saucer pitch or hoop'la. A well aimed golf putt into the jester's mouth will bring a royal reward, as will the hockey player who scores at Puck Luck. There's also a computer game, Spin and Win and the Treasure Chest.

As a new attraction, the Junior Friday Club of Hightstown will present a puppet show, "The Selfish Giant," adapted from a story by Oscar Wilde. The concession area offers rides on ponies, haywagons and fire engines, and for the adventurous, the Moon walk, the Swing and the Whip. Children may look for bargains in second-hand toys and games, purchase a jester T-shirt or have one made with a choice of decals, put on a new face at Make-up or a new hat from Jester's Mad Hatter.

This year's version of the Fun House is called "The Rack," a dark and scary dungeon. At the Petting Zoo gentle lambs, goats and ducks will appreciate a friendly pat. Those with an artistic bent will want to paint a section of the Tom Sawyer fence, take home a decorative paint swirl or a creation from Make It and Take It.

Clowns and pocket ladies strolling the area will carry surprise toys for young children. The balloon send-off at 3 will award an HO train set to the sender whose attached name brings a response from

SEMINARS ON "WOMEN"

Three-Day Session. Several Princeton women are planning and will participate in the New Jersey Women's Meeting, sponsored by the New Jersey Committee for the International Women's Year. The Meeting, one of 56 in each state and territory, will be held at various locations on the Princeton University campus June 17, 18 and 19. Registration, at $4, may be made through next Wednesday, June 8. Forms are at the Princeton Public Library and the YWCA.

Patricia Cherry, a member of the State Committee, is in charge of logistics. Other Princeton residents on the planning committee are Connie Struve, Ella Capriotti, Julie Moran and Phyllis Soffen.

Speakers from the area include Jennifer McLeod, who will address the "Women in Positions of Influence" panel; Judith K. Brodsky, who will speak on problems of women in the arts; Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick and Ruth B. Mandel of the Eagleton Institute of Politics who will speak on "Politics and Women."

Also Dr. Debora R. Phillips of the Princeton Center for Behavior Consultation, who will participate in a panel on "Finding Our Sexual Center," Martha Karraker and Mrs. Sigmund who will discuss "Battered Women"; Michelle Harrison, who will address the childbirth panel; Leslie Bush Hickcox and Merrily Baker, who will speak on women in sports and Marge Smith, who will join panelists to discuss "The Volunteer in Society."

Other panels will explore problems of housing, minority and older women, working women, female offenders, homemaking, legislation and legal status, education and training and health care.

BRUSH FIRE STARTED

By Broken Power Line. Mrs. Benjamin Tregoe, 34 Heather Lane, was awakened after 4 Sunday morning by a popping sound and the odor of smoke. Investigating, she discovered a brush fire across the street in front of the property of Peter Dodds, 37 Heather Lane. Sgt. Michael Kopliner, Ptl. John Hammond and Ptl. William Potts responded to Mrs. Tregoe's call and requested one piece of fire equipment. Police report the cause was a broken power line hanging in the trees above the burning area. They notified Public Service.

Car Fire. Two units from the Princeton Fire Department answered a call shortly before noon Friday for an engine fire in a 1965 station wagon.

The driver, Miss Kathryn King, 221-C Halsey, had attempted to start the car, which backfired. A neighbor, Pat Rinaldo, 422 Butler, saw fire come from under the engine and shouted to Miss King to get out of the car. She then called police.

The fire was quickly extinguished.

Common Cause Eyes Gubernatorial Races, Reports on Candidates' Varying Viewpoints

(This is the last of a series of four articles on the 1977 gubernatorial election written for TOWN TOPICS by Robert Willis of New Jersey Common Cause.)

WE TAKE ISSUE

In 1767 Lord Townshend, Great Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, succeeded in levying import duties on English goods entering the American colonies. Ever since, Americans have not liked taxes. The colonial cry of "No Taxation Without Representation" for many might happily be changed to "No Taxation - Period."

If any issue is calculated to try the souls of 1977's gubernatorial candidates, taxation will. Faced with a regressive property tax and a judicial order to discover a fairer means of supporting a "Thorough and Efficient" (T and E) education for New Jersey's youth, the Legislature last year adopted a state income tax. And the political cannons roar on, louder now than ever!

In an attempt to hear some clear notes within a veritable babel of conflicting opinions, Common Cause recently asked the candidates to put themselves on record vis-a-vis the new state income tax. Of 11 respondents from both major parties, only Brendan Byrne (D), James Florio (D), and Raymond Garramone (D) favor any form of state income tax. Byrne would prefer amending the present requirements so as to conform more closely to his 1974 proposal; Florio would support a progressive, graduated tax; Garramond stands by the current law.

Given a disturbing lack of money trees in New Jersey, where, pray tell, will the others find additional funds?

In a state proud of its "home rule" tradition, most candidates would first take the axe to "big government." Emery Zold (D) would shape a new look by cutting the salaries of the Governor and top cabinet officials. The magic number being five, Thomas Kean (R) would slice out 5 percent in all general state operations; Raymond Bateman (R) would halt governmental growth by a hiring freeze on 5 percent of state positions; C. Robert Sarcone (R), through efficiency and accountability, would reduce 5 percent of current governmental costs.

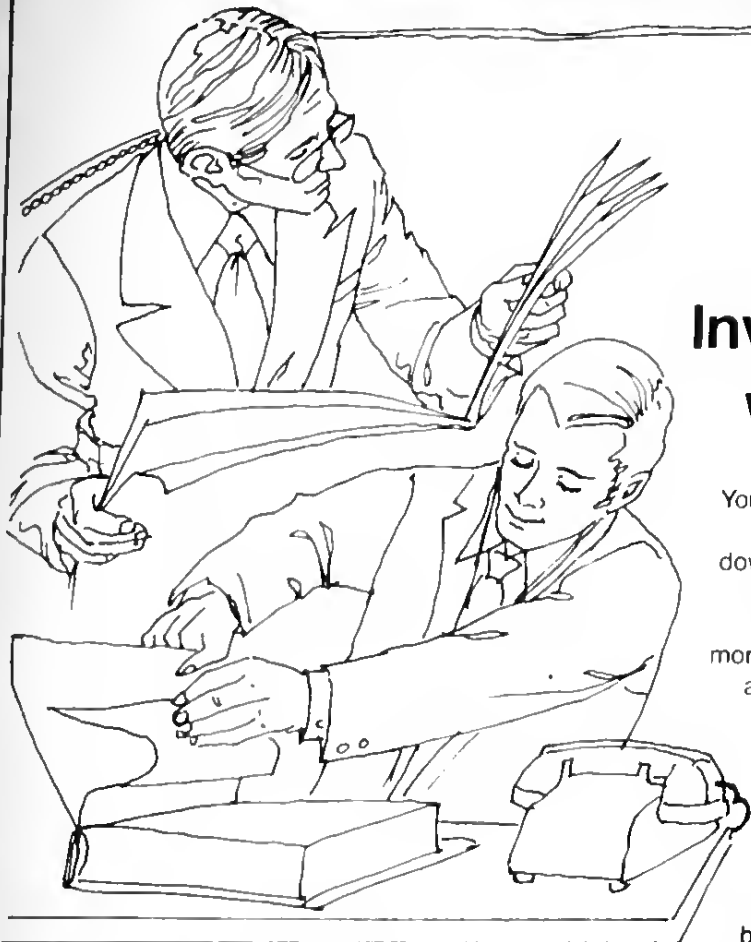

And bureaucratic heads would roll! Ralph DeRose (D) would eliminate T & E and tax collection staffs, while offering early retirement incentives to state employees. A Howard Freund (D) would eliminate the Departments of Environmental Protection, Community Affairs, and Consumer Affairs; he would, moreover, return educational power to the local municipalities, leaving only advisory functions to the Department of Education.

Finally, although we do enjoy those two checks from the State Treasury, Bateman and Kean would bury the Homestead Rebate Plan to avoid overbearing state taxes.

If reductions in state expenditures do not offset the money lost through the elimination of the income tax, what alternative revenue sources do the gubernatorial candidates favor? Bateman might increase the sales tax by 1 percent; Kean would go to the people with a tax convention or a referendum. George Koukos (D) would take 100 percent of the revenues from casino gambling, while DeRose would create a statewide revenue-sharing pool from increased property taxes levied upon new commercial and industrial development. William Angus (R) would simply eliminate the problem by a constitutional amendment wiping out the "Thorough and Efficient" requirement.

Taxation is as controversial a topic today as it was two hundred years ago, in the days of Lord Townshend. Today, however, we as citizens have a far greater voice in determining the tax policies of our government. The candidates in the June 7th primary present a broad variety of alternatives; it is up to us to make the choice.

Bike Auction Set

The Township police department will conduct an auction of 30 bicycles Saturday, June 11, at 10 a.m. at Township Hall, Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road. They may be inspected between 9 and 10. Included are all types of unclaimed bikes that have been collected by police. Chief Frederick Porter, who will be the auctioneer, says that some are in need of repair.

shattered during the weekend when someone threw a quart bottle of beer at it. A group described as "rowdy students" running through the mini-park at Palmer Square, home of the "Tiger," uprooted a fence and damaged a light fixture. The latter incident took place around 2 Saturday morning.

An Allison Road resident told police Monday that a globe on a light pole on his property had been shattered by a BB pellet.

TWO YOUTHS CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Two 17-year old Princeton youths have been charged by Township Ptl. Mario Musso with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

After being charged, they were turned over to the Township juvenile officer and later released to their parents.

Ptl. Musso was patrolling Grover Avenue late Saturday night when he saw a parked car turn its headlights off and on several times. In checking the occupants, he allegedly observed a metal pipe used for smoking marijuana and a quantity of green vegetation believed to be marijuana.

Driver, 16, Charged. Charges of taking a car without the owner's consent and being an unlicensed driver were lodged last week against a 16-year old Princeton youth.

He was arrested Friday at 5:28 p.m. after he was involved in an accident at Herrontown Road and Snowden Lane. He was later turned over to the juvenile officer for processing and released to his parents.

According to police, the youth had been repairing a car owned by Terry F. Brennan of Trenton at a Princeton service station and had taken the car on a test drive. He told police that he had swerved to try to avoid a dog that had run out in front of his car.

In the process, he damaged 32 feet of fence and a tree at the property of 383 Herrontown. Ptl. Musso investigated.

NARCOTICS STOLEN

From Nassau Pharmacy. A quantity of prescription narcotics was stolen early last week from Nassau Pharmacy, 80 Nassau Street.

Police said that the pharmacy was entered from the basement. Once inside, the thief or thieves broke into a narcotic cabinet and removed a quantity of cocaine, codine, Demoral and Dexedrine, most in powder and tablet form.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that police were still conducting an inventory and the investigation was continuing. The amount of drugs stolen, he said, was no more than the normal amount a drug store would have on supply. He declined to estimate their value, adding that when such narcotics reach the street for sale their value is much higher.

The police investigation by Capt. Theodore Lewis, Det. Ronald Holliday and Sgt. Thomas Procaccino revealed that Hinkson's, next door, had been entered first through a rear door, and that the pharmacy had then been entered from the basement. Stolen from Hinkson's were two watches with a combined value of $109.90. Nothing else was taken from the stationery store, police said, and nothing but the drugs from the pharmacy.

"Trinity Time"

with L. GERSON

Suzanne Gordon in *Lonely in America makes a valuable distinction between loneliness and aloneness:

Loneliness may present an insoluble problem to the artist as a private person, but that problem is resolved in the work of art in the world of the artist as creator. It is as though art were a sanctuary from loneliness; for the process of giving form to emotion transforms it. In those moments of artistic solitude the feelings are something the artist controls rather than something that controls him. Because of this they are used by part of a positive, productive process; they cease to be negative, destructive forces.

And she adds:

Loneliness sets one in the midst of chaos. It is not that the artist does not feel the painful emotions to which we are all subject. It is simply that creation is a different mode of experiencing those emotions. In creation the artist feels that pain, uses that pain, while at the same time establishing a distance from that suffering that is necessary to allow art to grow.

However chaotic and unpredictable everyday life may be, there are opportunities of choice between the eternal and the transient, the infinite and the limited, the uplifting and the degrading that we can incorporate into our experience.

Certainly a high degree of awareness and conscious discipline is required for meaningful living. But after all we are free to make such choices and it seems to me that it is our privilege as well as our responsibility to make them.

One such choice is to start looking for the artist in one's self. Loneliness disappears and the hours grow too short. The sense of always having more to do than there is time available is a kind of painful joy. Have you had an encounter with the eternal, the infinite, the uplifting lately?

have been named captains of the channel 52 area for New Jersey Public Television's Great TV Auction this fall. They are now recruiting dozens of volunteers to contact businesses and individuals in the Mercer-Middlesex county area for donations to the armchair auction.

Mr. Skey, who is affiliated with Sterns, Herbert and Weinworth, Counselors of Law in Trenton, may be contacted at his office at 392-2100. A resident of Princeton for the past six years, Skey will concentrate on the Princeton area.

Mrs. Bencze, who has assisted NJPTV's auction in past years, will be responsible for volunteers in Hightstown, Windsor, East Windsor, Dutch Neck, Roosevelt, Cranbury and other areas surrounding Princeton. Volunteers may telephone her at 609-448-2400.

The period of June 2-11 has been selected for the first effort to contact donors for the auction. Nearly 4,000 items are needed statewide in all categories from furnishings, clothing, jewelry, appliances, luggage, cars, boats and furs to tickets, services, trips, art and celebrity items. All donations are tax-deductible at market value and will be given considerable exposure on all four NJPTV channels during the auction in addition to pre-auction publicity. Firms and individuals wishing to participate in the auction through volunteer solicitations or by donating an item or service should call Mrs. Bencze or Mr. Skey. The auction will begin on October 22.

Martha Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sullivan of 71 Independence Drive, receives the Lucy L. Shulman Trophy from Dr. Roger Howell Jr., president of Bowdoin College where she is a graduating senior. The trophy, which goes to Bowdoin's "outstanding woman athlete," was presented to Miss Sullivan for her performance in lacrosse, field hockey and squash, for which she earned a total of eight varsity letters.

POCONO TRIP SET
For Senior Citizens. The Recreation Department will sponsor an all-day trip to Lake Wallenpaupack in the Poconos on Friday, June 24. The trip is open to all Princeton residents 60 years of age and older, and will cost $12.50 for turkey dinner or $13.50 for sirloin of beef.

The bus will leave Community Park at 9:15 and Spruce Circle at 9:30 arriving at the lake resort by noon. There will be a buffet luncheon served upon arrival, followed by an afternoon activity such as a scenic cruise on Lake Wallenpaupack.

A Champagne Party will be held at 4:30 with dinner served at 5:15. The bus will arrive back in Princeton at approximately 9.

Those interested may call the Recreation Office at 921-9480 to make a reservation. All money will be collected on Friday between 10:30 and 12 noon at the Recreation office.

IT'S NEW To Us

CASH FOR YOUR MONEY
At Princeton Coin Exchange. Inflation appears to have settled in as a permanent part of life, making the ways to cope with it a popular subject. The suggestions range anywhere from seeking out supermarket specials to purchasing gold and silver.

Since 1964 when our currency was changed from a 90 percent silver base to a combination of copper and nickel, the coin business has grown considerably. Naturally, anything minted before this date is valued on its metallic content and worth more than its face value.

As a result during the last 13 years many people have started to save these older coins, and conscientiously check their change each time for the real thing. Unfortunately, they do not appear on a daily basis any longer, but now Princeton has a store specializing in coins of all kinds.

Called Princeton Coin Exchange, here you can sell coins for their bullion value or purchase them for your own collection. Owned by Bill Pullen, a member of the Professional Numismatists

FOR COIN COLLECTORS. Nassau Street's newest store, Princeton Coin Exchange, specializes in coins, both rare and bullion ones, for collectors and investors.

Guild who has been wholesaling coins throughout the country for the last ten years, this store also deals heavily in rare coins.

Rare is not based on date alone, for the condition and mint also determine a coin's value. For instance, an 1878-S silver dollar is worth $12 while an 1896-O one is valued at $50.

Most collectors specialize, such as in half-dollars, and here a particularly interesting group are the commemorative ones. Minted in honor of a particular state or historic event, they are fascinating and some quite valuable, such as the 1926 one of the Oregon Trail valued at $45.

Gold is particularly interesting to new collectors, and Mr. Pullen has a good selection of both foreign and domestic coins. We found it interesting that a one dollar gold piece was worth more than a $5 one, (generally $90 to $125 versus $60 to $80 for the $5 coin,) particularly as it contains one-fifth the amount of gold Mr. Pullen explained that they were never as popular because they were small and thus difficult to handle.

Even more valuable, however, are the $4 gold pieces which have sold anywhere from $6,000 to $15,000.

Gold as Jewelry. Currently the South African Krugerrand has created a lot of interest. This is a one-ounce gold coin, costing $155, that is not only sold as an investment but also as a piece of jewelry.

In fact, most gold coins make lovely jewelry, and Princeton Coin Exchange carries the bezels (settings which hold the coin, but do not harm it in any way) in 14 kt. gold, priced from about $55. Mr. Pullen also has coins already set as rings or pendants, as well as some chains to hold them.

Paper currency is interesting too, particularly the early 20th century ones issued by local banks from Hopewell, Frenchtown, Trenton, Flemington and of course, Princeton. Although these are still legal tender, it is doubtful you'll come across one in a business transaction, mainly because of the value. For instance, a 1929 Series OF $10 bill from the First National Bank of Princeton is actually worth $75.

Other items we saw here were government-issued proof sets (foreign and domestic), one-ounce silver bars which commemorate events such as graduation and make nice gifts, $8.25; and all the necessary collector's aids such as storage tubes and folders, price guides, magnifying glasses, and a choice of informative books.

Mr. Pullen's interest in rare coins has brought him in touch with other areas of collecting and so included in his store is a group of stamps, documents and antiques.

Located at 20 Nassau Street, Princeton Coin Exchange is open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 5:30.

COME AND RELAX

At Guild Gallery. It is a true pleasure to visit a store that remains as relaxing and inviting as when it first opened. Such is the case at Guild Gallery which now in its sixth year firmly holds to its policy of not pressuring the customers. Instead, owners, Chris Nilsen and Pete Hanson, encourage you to look and touch at your leisure, all with a cup of coffee and background music.

The artists must like it here too, because several old favorites are still very much in evidence for instance, there are Donald Werden's charming watercolors, Rosemary Taylor's stoneware children, and Ted Ehmann's Grocks.

In addition to his watercolors, Donald Werden recently has been doing some interesting and unique things. For instance, we saw an imaginative dry point etching of a Blizzard on Elm Ridge as well as an egg tempera Still Life with Lemon Leaves which has a lovely glow. He has also done a number of detailed pen and ink drawings, and these and the watercolors sell for between $400 and $500.

Rosemary Taylor's whimsical soft brown stoneware children all love flowers and tend to have places for tucking dired ones or openings on the top of their heads for small plants, from $8.50. She has also used them as the center of a fountain, pouring water from a jug into a large round dish - all of which works with a self-contained pump and re-cycled water, $150.

From the Delaware. Grocks are actually Delaware River rocks which have been painted as caricatures. Although Ted Ehmann has sold some of the more popular figures for mass production, all the ones here are hand-painted and signed. There is one for most any job or hobby such as fisherman, mechanic, gardener, golfer or doctor, and any of them can be individualized or custom ordered, about $24.50.

There are many new artists too, representing a broad spectrum of areas. Most spectacular are the porcelain figures by John Hedden, a North Carolina artist who is involved with mythology. All his pieces are functional, ranging from a toothbrush holder to a chess set. There are clocks, planters, bowls and even spice jars, many of which reflect his obvious sense of humor. For instance, the spice jars are fat little men with textured hair and hats, labeled Eternal Thyme, Weed of Dill, Live Chives and so on, about $15 each.

Guild Gallery also has some handsome contemporary cast bronzes by John Quimby who uses a lost wax process. Under this method the mold must be destroyed in order to free the bronze and so each piece is one of a kind. They are reasonably priced too at $175 to $500, about half the cost of comparable bronzes of this weight.

Other additions are Vasili's Botanical Creations, which are charming metal flowers, from $22.50, hand-crafted gold jewelry as well as the silver, beautifully shaded wood burnings on natural boxes by Ann Harcar, from $25; and pottery by approximately 50 different craftsmen, including Peter Petri's people mugs with sculptured faces on the front, $10 and $12.50.

New among the framed pieces are Joanne Isaac's etchings, many of which she hand tints. Interestingly, her works accurately reflect the shape of things. For instance, a Juniper-Eastern Red Cedar is tall and narrow while a Dogwood Branch has been worked on a horizontal plane, $275 and $200 respectively.

Another new artist is Dick Jensen who comes from Dallas, Texas, but now resides in New Jersey, and he paints both abstract and realistic oils, both of which reflect his excellent control. There are also works by Peter Keating, Donald Voorhees and Judi Wagner.

For all these works Guild Gallery offers a 10-day home hanging policy with an exchange or refund if you're unsure after that period. Custom framing is also available, as is a large group of photograph frames.

Located in the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206, Guild Gallery is open seven days each week. The hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 until 6, open Thursday and Friday evenings until 9. On Sunday the hours are from 11 until 5.

Tribute to "Brophy"

A collage, assembled in tribute to the late Thomas Brophy, will be on display this Reunion weekend in the window of Brophy's, the shoe store at 5 Palmer Square.

The focus of the work is a photograph of Mr. Brophy fitting Hollie Donan, All-American football player in Princeton's Class of 1950. Another photo shows Mr. Brophy in the doorway of the old shoe store in Upper Pyne, the building razed to make way for One Palmer Square.

Sid Guberman, Princeton artist who executed the collage, has painted a saddle shoe, wing-tips, a golf tee—Mr. Brophy was a passionate golfer—and logos of famous shoes carried by the store, incorporating them into the assemblage.

Brophy's is now owned and operated by Thomas Brophy, Jr.

Save William Street Houses.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to urge all Princetonians interested in saving the William Street houses to attend the meeting at Borough Hall Wednesday evening June 1, at 8:30 to express their views to the Council. This meeting will address itself to the decision of the Planning Board to allow removal of these houses to another place. We need the support of the community to overturn the Planning Board's recommendation.

Thank you for your assistance in advance.

Independents May Vote.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A bill signed on May 20 by Governor Byrne has come just in time to allow hundreds of thousands of New Jersey Independents to participate in this year's election.

The bill in question, known as the Independent Voters Act (A-1854), applies only to those Independents who have never before voted in a primary election. Until this bill became law, everyone who wished to vote in a primary had to declare his or her party preference at least 50 days before the election. Those voters who had not done so were not eligible to vote on Primary Day. Now, thanks to A-1854, all those Independents who have not previously declared a party affiliation may do so on Primary Election Day, and will be allowed to vote in that primary.

No one seems to know how many Independents there are in New Jersey, but there is no doubt that there are many of them—certainly enough to make a difference in this confused gubernatorial primary. Likewise, opinion is divided as to which of the 15 candidates will benefit from the new law, but there is no doubt whatever that with the enfranchisement of New Jersey's Independent voters, the chief beneficiary will be the democratic process.

I urge all Independent voters to take advantage of this change in the law and to participate in this year's important primary elections on June 7.

An Open Letter to All Registered Democrats and to All Independent Voters of Princeton

The stakes for New Jersey in the outcome of the Democratic primary on June 7th are high.

At stake is progressive, corruption-free administration in Trenton. At stake is the state income tax.

At stake is an administration committed to doing what state government has to do, but at the same time keeping state expenditures under strict control.

At stake is a progressive Democratic Administration for the next four years. We believe this is a high stake for the State of New Jersey.

If the Democrats of New Jersey repudiate the Democratic Administration of Governor Brendan Byrne at the primary on June 7th, we will hand the State House to the Republican candidate in November. A party that repudiates its Incumbent Governor invites disaster at the polls in November because it has in essence repudiated its own record. History bears this out.

If you believe as we do that:

-- a state income tax is essential for New Jersey, if we are to continue to bring about dramatic reductions in the local property tax and also significantly raise the credit rating of the State;

-- the record of the accomplishments of the Byrne administration is one of which progressive Democrats can be proud, accomplishments that must not be overturned;

-- Governor Byrne's appointments of such outstanding Cabinet officers as Ann Klein, David Bardin, Stanley Van Ness, S. Howard Woodson, Joanne Finley, Virginia Long, Pat Sheehan deserve our ratification at the polls;

-- the support of Governor Byrne by three progressive Mayors - Paul Jordan, Arthur Holland, & Kenneth Gibson - is testimony to his integrity, his principles, and his commitment to dealing with the urban problems of the State;

-- a progressive Democratic administration must be continued in the State House;

THEN BRENDAN BYRNE MUST WIN THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY ON JUNE 7th.

We believe that only Brendan Byrne can defeat whoever is the Republican candidate in November. Only Brendan Byrne, running on the record of his administration, can expose the basic dishonesty of the two principal Republican candidates on the issue of the state income tax. Both of them have supported an income tax in the past, but now call for its termination.

We who have signed this letter have been active in the political life of the Princeton community for many years. Some of us have been honored to be elected by you to public office. We believe strongly in progressive, responsive, and open government at all levels of government. We do not want to lose that kind of government in Trenton.

We ask you to think hard about the stakes in the primary elections of June 7th.

We urge you to VOTE on June 7th and to vote for Governor Brendan Byrne. Let us close ranks and carry forward the work that his administration, under difficult and trying conditions, has begun.

A Woman Tells Women How Best to Solve Financial Problems, Including Credit Ratings

"Women and Credit" is the title of an attractive green and white booklet available at the First National Bank of Princeton on a subject few women (or men) know much about.

Researched and written by Maureen Gopel, an assistant cashier and co-director of the bank's Yes Plus overdraft service, the booklet provides information on how to go about establishing a good credit record as an important step in creating an independent financial identity.

GRAND OPENING SET
For New Montgomery Bank. The Montgomery National Bank, located at the intersection of Routes 206 and 518 opposite the Princeton North Shopping Center, will celebrate the opening of its new permanent office on Saturday.

The bank, which opened in January in a temporary trailer office, has renovated historic Bolmer House, which will be used for private offices. The banking addition will contain a spacious lobby and four teller windows. The two structures are joined by a main entrance corridor which will house "Monty", the 24-hour automated teller machine.

The ribbon-cutting and dedication of the building which will officially open the new banking office, will be performed by Representative Millicent Fenwick at 10 and attended by numerous civic leaders and bank officials.

The day's festivities will begin at 9 and the first 1,000 adults to visit the bank will

A successful record of installment borrowing can be an impressive part of a credit history, and Mrs. Gopel sometimes advises borrowing when it isn't needed to help to insure credit when it is.

The Equal Credit Opportunity Act prohibits lenders from asking a woman about her child-bearing intentions or her birth-control practices. It also allows alimony and child support payments to be considered as a source of income, if a woman so desires. Effective June 1 the Act requires that the Credit Bureau maintain two files, one for the wife and one for the husband, when the two have obtained joint credit, such as a mortgage held by both.

Mrs. Gopel goes on to describe some of the high risk indicators which could cause a Equal Evaluation. Mrs. Gopel says that although the Equal Opportunity Act makes it illegal for any agency that extends credit — banks, finance companies or department stores — to discriminate against any credit applicant on the basis of sex or marital status, it does not automatically guarantee that a woman will qualify for credit. However, the same standards must now by law be applied to women as to men.

Women constitute almost half of the nation's work force, she writes, but comparatively few have established credit histories with which to secure credit.

She outlines five ways to build up a credit record with a Credit Bureau which will later be asked to supply the information to the lending organization. Open a checking or savings account in your own name, she suggests to women, and make regular deposits, thereby demonstrating the ability to manage financial affairs.

Apply for a department store charge account also in your own name, or if you have one in your husband's name, get it changed, she advises. Larger stores are likely to subscribe to a Credit Bureau which will record the transactions for future credit references. Holding a bank charge card and having an overdraft checking account also improve one's credit rating.

Stone's Linen Shop Doubles Its Space In New Location at 30 Nassau Street

From 800 square feet to 1600 square feet is a pleasant move for any retailer to make, and Burt and Barbara Sussman have just made it.

They'll open their new location for Stone's Linen Shop this week, inviting customers to 30 Nassau — the premises recently occupied by Marsh's Pharmacy.

Arches have been used as a decorating theme by Larry Johnson of the E. Harvey Myers firm of architects. The old front door has been given an arch treatment, and there is a pair of arches leading to rear offices and storage. Emerald and royal paint was the choice of Mrs. Sussman and her decorator helper, Pam Ramsaier. The colors are appropriate, Mrs. Sussman feels, for either the bath or dining sections of the shop.

Stone's will continue to specialize as before, in linens for bath, dining-room, kitchen and bedroom.

Nostalgic Decor! At the right of the entrance is a four-by-six-foot window display area backed by a full-length mirror. It may show table-linens one week, a bath design the next. And bath displays will feature the star of the shop — a splendid claw-foot bathtub contributed by Mrs. Sussman's father.

"That's our conversation piece!" she smiles. "Maybe we'll paint it a shiny green and put in a plant, to cover the drain! We have other old fixtures, too — they lend themselves so well to imaginative treatment."

"The shop will have a free and open look," she explains, "nothing 'set'. We plan to have our regular stock toward the rear, with seasonal things in front."

Angled display panels on the left wall will have reflecting glass so that customers can easily examine what the shop has to offer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sussman bought Stone's Linen Shop in October, 1973 from Benjamin Stone, whose father had started the store in Trenton shortly after the turn of the century. Mr. Stone opened the shop in Princeton at 20 Nassau in the mid-1950s.

have the opportunity of winning part of $1,000 in cash prizes. Each adult will pick a colorfully embroidered "owl" from a unique display board.

The owls are coded and correspond to an appropriate cash prize. No one can lose, but winnings will vary from a maximum of 100 bicentennial silver dollars

Princeton Woman to Be Ordained as Deacon This Saturday at Trinity Cathedral in Trenton

When Mrs. Louise L. Kingston is ordained as a deacon Saturday at 10 in Trinity Cathedral in Trenton, she will follow a different road than that chosen by her two predecessors in Holy Orders in the Episcopal Church in New Jersey.

The Rev. Daphne W.P. Hawkes, who was the first woman ordained a priest in New Jersey, and the Rev. Virginia Sheay have both settled into parish ministry, at Trinity Church and at St. Matthew's in Pennington, respectively. For Mrs. Kingston the call is to ministry in a hospital and further training in the Clinical Pastoral Education Program at Princeton Medical Center under the Rev. George Fitzgerald, chaplain. She hopes to become a chaplain on her own with a ministry to staff as well as patients.

"I am grateful to Daphne for going first," Mrs. Kingston says of the Rev. Mrs. Hawkes, who was very much in the limelight as a precedent breaker. "She coped magnificently," Mrs. Kingston's two presenters for ordination, along with her husband, Michael Kingston, a vice-president in the international division of Citibank in New York City and treasurer of Trinity Church.

The Rt. Rev. Albert W. Van Duzer, Bishop of New Jersey, will officiate at the service in which ten men will also be ordained. Trinity Church where Mrs. Kingston has fulfilled field work requirements at Princeton Seminary, and where she has worshipped since a child, is sponsoring her ordination.

Louise L. Kingston

Long a Hospital Volunteer. Daughter of the Mrs. Annette C. Lauck of Princeton-Lawrenceville Road and the late Peter Lauck, Mrs. Kingston graduated from Princeton High School and majored in religion at Vassar College. She was married in 1963 right after graduation and went with her husband to Venezuela where their two sons were born. In Venezuela she also began what was to be a series of volunteer experiences in hospitals in Puerto Rico, and in Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, additional foreign assignments before the family returned to Princeton in 1973.

Mrs. Kingston had always planned to take a graduate degree after they returned to the United States. The deaths of her husband's brother and of her own father within two weeks of each other in November, 1972, were possible factors leading her to seminary instead of graduate school, she thinks, but more specifically it was a talk on grieving by the Rev. Herbert Anderson, a former faculty member at Princeton Theological Seminary that persuaded her to enroll at the seminary and take courses in counseling.

A 40-Hour Week. She worked at Somerset Hospital during her first year at Seminary and last summer spent 12 weeks, 40 hours a week, at Princeton Medical Center earning the first "basic quarter" toward becoming a full-fledged hospital chaplain. She finds that unlike parish work there is a clear line between being at the hospital and being at home with her three children, Tim, 12, David, 10 and Courtenay, 6, an additional benefit which she didn't anticipate.

Encounters in the hospital, she says, are not always explicitly theological. "We experience grace in interpersonal relationships, regardless of whether God is mentioned," she adds. "Ministry at its best is a reciprocal arrangement when you know you are important to someone."

Going the rounds of Princeton Medical Center, stopping to chat, play games with a child, help a family make difficult decisions on the care of an aged relative, squeezing a hand or saying a quiet prayer are all part of a very satisfying ministry to the deacon-elect.

Mathematica Policy Research. This recital is their third performance together.

J.S. Bach's E minor flute sonata will begin the concert. Mr. Saunders will follow with Bach's "Partita No. 4 in D, Major." Two short Debussy solo works will open the second half, "La Cathédrale Engloutie" from the "Piano Preludes Book I" and "Syrinx" for flute alone. The final work will be the "Sonata in A Major" by Cesar Franck. Originally for cello, most often heard in the violin version, the sonata is now well known as a virtuoso flute and piano composition. Admission to the concert is free.

SOLAR USE TOPIC Of Christ Congregation Talk. An introduction to the uses of solar energy in the home will be given by Charles McCollough at Christ Congregation on Sunday at 11. Concerned citizens are invited to hear an elementary explanation of the principles of energy and to see slides illustrating basic principles of energy use.

The presentation will cover experiments in housing, heating systems and hot water currently used throughout the country - including the solar energy house on Pine Street. Mr. McCollough, who describes himself as "a concerned handyman," will also talk about two projects he is now attempting at his own farmhouse near Hopewell: a solar-heated greenhouse and a solar hotwater heater.

Mr. McCollough will explain and show how a person who is even mildly handy can do some things himself or herself to meet energy needs. He believes that people can be more self-reliant in meeting such needs. "We used to be, but because of industrialization, we have lost the desire and skills needed to maintain ourselves."

"This has caused us to become reliant upon others who are not as concerned about our interest, health, and well-being as we ourselves are. Nor are they particularly concerned about future generations." Mr. McCollough is Secretary for Educational Programs for the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OPEN At Christian Science Church. The Sunday School and services of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 16 Bayard Lane, will be held during the summer months at 11 during June and at 10 after July 1.

According to John H. Roe, Christian Science assistant, committee on publication, the churches and societies of the denomination continue their services and other regular activities the year round. The Sunday School maintains classes for pupils up to the age of 20, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Parents are welcome to discuss the Sunday School or summer attendance with Mrs. Frances Wagenseil, Sunday School Superintendent.

BULLETIN NOTES

Dr. Robert Stackel, director of the World Hunger Appeal for the Lutheran Church in America, will be the guest preacher at the Princeton of Peace Lutheran Church on Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction. Dr. Stackel is responsible for distributing food to needy peoples throughout the world and recently returned from a tour of underdeveloped countries.

Dr. Don Juel, professor of New Testament studies at Princeton Theological Seminary, will be the liturgist. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Frederick Schott is attending a program on "Bible Study and Witnessing" at Carthage College in Wisconsin.

The summer schedule will go into effect at Nassau Presbyterian Church this Sunday when the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at 10 instead of 11. One Sunday morning worship service with no children's sermon and no Sunday church classes will continue until the fall. Child care for crib age through kindergarten will be available during the 10 a.m. worship hour.

OELIGHTFULLY DECEPTIVE

What appears on the outside to be a rather small, pretty, well-groomed house turns out to be a surprisingly spacious, quite impressive and incredibly immaculate home! Flagstone-floored foyer, lovely large cathedral-ceilinged living room, formal dining room, 4 bedrooms (or 3 and a study), 2 1/2 baths, utility/laundry room - all are pleasant and pristine. But the highlight of the house is the marvelous big combination kitchen and family room with fireplace and sliding glass doors to the handsome brick terrace.

As for the grounds - lush evergreens, flowering shrubs, specimen trees, thick groundcovers, are all part of the professional landscaping planned for easy maintenance and aesthetic pleasure. All in all, it's hard to believe this superbly equipped, fully air-conditioned, conveniently located home has ever been lived in, but it has, and happily! Now $132,500

A LIVING DOLL HOUSE

Small in size, huge in appeal this two bedroom enchanter has much to offer someone who wants everything but lots of space. Particularly attractive is the cathedral ceilinged living room with its free-standing round fireplace and balcony above. Lovely landscaping including raspberries & grapes! Nice Lawrence Twp. area (Princeton mail & phone) $89,500

"PHEASANT HILL"

Intriguing additions to an early fieldstone farm house have made this home unique! Not large - 3 bedrooms, study/guest-room, 3 baths - but flexible for two generational living and entertaining "Reception hall," extra large living room, dining "room with a view", family room, kitchen, pantry, mud/laundry room, 4 fireplaces. Old charm + interesting use of glass and interior fieldstone. Guest/recreation house, pool, lovely rolling land, part fields, part woods, brook. Offered with 26 acres. $225,000

PRETTY HOUSE ON A PRETTY STREET

That's the first impression created by our newest Princeton Township listing. Nestled into its peaceful setting of lovely shrubbery and handsome trees, including a big healthy elm, the white masonry (stucco?) - will somebody please invent a nicer word for an attractive finish! has an exterior appeal which is happily matched by the interior.

The next impression is one of space, solidity and comfort. The 30 year old house, built by one of Princeton's finest builders, has eight good-sized rooms, including a first floor bedroom and bath. Living room with slate fireplace and bookshelf, dining room, study and cheery kitchen with eating alcove round out the first floor, with 3 more bedrooms, 2nd bath and piping for a 3rd, on the second floor. The huge basement, with working playing and storing space, has the added attraction of a fireplace in the potential family room. A large screened porch and central air conditioning are two more assets of a house that has more than we can describe here, particularly at $125,000!

ONE OF PRINCETON'S most gracious houses...Steadman-designed and moved from its original location to this lovely two acre lot with trees and formal gardens, not to mention more than 2 dozen exquisite holly trees, near Carnegie Lake, just over the Princeton line. A modern wing was incorporated in the 50's that blends in beautifully with the original! Mouldings, panelling, mantels, floors, all seem the same vintage. The original two parlours form to make a warm family room with high ceilings and fireplace, the new wing provides a formal living room with elegant marble fireplace, fixtures and windows. A master bedroom suite with full bath and doors to the patio is nearby. Of course, a formal dining room, and super family kitchen completes the first floor. Bedrooms upstairs are in separate wings with two and a full bath in one part, and three with two baths in another. All new wiring, heating, of course, and a barn-garage completes this almost perfect picture for the family who wants to live in Princeton for the convenience and an older house for its charm and character and your own potting shed, too! Low-Rent Apartments for Elderly Take Shape; Municipal Parking Garage Comes a Bit Closer

A white-trimmed brick structure containing 128 low-rent apartments for the elderly, its four - to - eight stories comfortably tucked into the parking lot west of the Playhouse, was described Thursday by its sponsors, Princeton Community Housing, Inc.

PCH detailed its proposal at a special meeting of Borough Council, attended by representatives of Princeton University. The University, through its Palmer Square corporation, is selling the land to PCH for an amount still to be determined.

A crucial element in planning for the project is the need for parking. There are 114 spaces in the lot now. They must be put somewhere else when the building is built.

A PLACE TO LIVE: Princeton Community Housing's 128-unit apartment would stand on Hulfish Street next to the Playhouse theatre, where a parking lot now is. This view shows the Playhouse at the extreme right, Hulfish Street in front. The lowest parts -- four stories in height -- would face Hulfish and Paul Robeson Place. The building would then be set back with a six-story center. Another set-back, and a height of eight stories would be reached. The tallest part would be lower than the roof of the nearby Nassau Inn. Terraces, trellises, a greenhouse, an awning-shaded community room facing Hulfish, a walkway connecting Robeson and Hulfish are all part of the design. Robert Geddes, of Geddes, Brecher, Qualls and Cunningham, is the architect.

PCH is required to provide 43 spaces for its tenants. (A new Borough ordinance lowers the required parking in the Central Business District for apartments for the elderly to one-third the number of apartment units).

The Goal: a Garage. That's a total of 147 spaces. PCH can provide 10 on the site. What PCH -- and the University's Palmer Square -- would like is a Borough parking garage nearby to accommodate those 147 slots, and probably a lot more.

PCH made the Borough an offer on Thursday.

"We'd like to participate in that garage," announced Samuel Kriegman, PCH's housing consultant. "We'll make 147 spaces available and pay for them -- about half a million, over a five-year period."

He explained that PCH would obtain the money by changing itself from a non-profit corporation to a limited-dividend entity. Large investors would join with PCH in a partnership for the tax advantage, but control would remain with PCH.

"But we would have to coordinate," Mr. Kriegman warned the Borough. "You'd have to begin construction of a parking garage before we start."

"In effect," he smiled, "we're putting a gun to the head of the Borough."

A Second Gun. He added that PCH wants to get Federal housing subsidies before they are changed or cancelled. This has happened before.

John Moran, the University's vice-president for facilities, had a hand-gun of his own:

"We can't commit ourselves on selling the land until we know what the parking solution will be. At the point when the Borough makes a commitment, Palmer Square's board of directors can make a commitment, also."

Mayor Robert W. Cawley said his parking committee had planned a report for September 1, "..... unless we can take the leap and say we're ready for a parking garage before we do the other studies, like raising capital funds and what kind of organization would run the garage and the bond ordinance, and design and bid I don't know where PCH would fit in, there."

But Mr. Moran held out a carrot: with a parking garage containing the "lost" parking spaces, the rest of Palmer Square's land could support its own parking, he said, and Palmer Square's directors foresaw "modest commercial expansion." With, of course, attendant rateables.

Location over Spring St. Council is considering a parking garage straddling Spring Street, with one section in the library parking lot, one in the Tulane Street lot and a connecting bridge over Spring Street.

"The new Benson Building is a lost opportunity," Mayor Cawley observed. "This offer is a jolt to push us."

The Borough will have other things to consider. PCH expects to pay $35,000 to $40,000 in lieu of taxes each year, representing 6.63 percent of market rentals. William Selden, Council member, pointed out that the Borough only gets 18 cents of every tax dollar anyway -- the rest goes to schools and county -- and Mr. Kriegman said, "So the

CABARET TO RETURN
June 17. "I suppose you could call it 'Seven for '77,'" said Dan Berkowitz, entering with a soft-shoe routine and a straw hat to announce the return of Friday night's Inn Cabaret to the Nassau Inn.

Seven shows, starting Friday, June 17, and continuing June 24, July 1 and 8. Then a three-week break, and a return for August 5, 12 and 19.

"That way," Mr. Berkowitz continues, "we can do a summer season and make sure everyone, including the audience, gets a vacation!"

Auditions will be held this Sunday, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn, where Cabarets will be held. Anyone may apply, and should bring along music, be prepared to sing and do a comedy reading. Dan Berkowitz will be the director, which is the reason he's making all the announcements.

Is everybody happy?

AND FOUR WERE CHOSEN

To Direct, at Intime. A two-month search, involving interviews with 30 candidates, finally culminated in the choice of four directors who will direct Summer Intime's Tenth Anniversary Season.

"Directors are hard to come by," says Geoffrey Rich, Summer Intime producer. He and his associate, Clayton Platt, say they agreed totally on the four who were selected. Successful finalists were Kathy Mendeloff, Larry Smith, Kimothy Cruse and Mitchell Ivers.

Kathy Mendeloff will direct Shaw's "Candida," which will open the season on June 30. Now studying for her master's in directing at Yale, Ms. Mendeloff won an award for outstanding contribution to Princeton theatre while an undergraduate at Princeton.

Larry Smith, who has spent three years studying drama in England, will direct Arthur Miller's "Creation of the World and Other Business," which he directed last year in Florida. It will open July 14.

Kimothy Cruse has directed for both Intime and Princeton Community Players. He will be in charge of "110 in the Shade" -- the season's opening musical, July 28. The final play of the season, "Moonchildren," opening August 18, will be directed by Mitchell Ivers, who also won an award for contributions to the theatre at Princeton. He has staged seven plays for Intime, and will study directing next year at the N.Y.U. School of Drama.

Farce Intime Is Currently Offering
A Cure for Dormant Laughter Muscles

COX AND LANDLORD: In mufti, in this rehearsal shot, are two of the three characters in the 19th-century farce, "Cox and Box," now on stage at Murray Theatre. It's Summer Intime's curtain-raiser.

"Cox and Box," which Summer Intime bills as a "special pre-season treat," is precisely that. The one-act farce by F.C. Burnand with music by Sir Arthur Sullivan, now on the boards at Murray Theatre, is burlesque at its wackiest. If your laughter muscles need exercising, a trip to "Cox and Box" is recommended.

Historically, this play marks the beginning of comic opera in England. It was produced in 1867, four years before Sullivan and Gilbert began their famous partnership. It contains foreshadowings of later Gilbert & Sullivan themes in a patter song, a mock-sentimental aria, a narrative song in which Box describes how he drowned himself. There is even a song about a dicky-bird.

The plot is pleasant nonsense. Two boarders occupy the same room, one (a printer) by day and the other (a hatter) by night, neither knowing that the other exists. For ten wild minutes they are even in the room together, each trying to cook a meal at the single fireplace, before they become aware of each other. Bewilderment, hostility, friendship lead to the eventual discovery that both have avoided marrying the same woman.

Their existence is complicated by a scheming landlord, Sergeant Bouncer, whose practice of collecting two rents for one room backfires, but who solves every embarrassment by bursting into the song "Ra-ta-plan" in which the others have to join to the point of exhaustion.

Honors Shared. Honors for the evening belong to the three actors, all of whom have starred in past productions of Theatre Intime. Stephen Sechrist (who also directed the farce) alternates mock seriousness and foolery in the part of Cox. The same is true of George Oliva as Box, who has the added gift of a fine singing voice (which will be remembered by all who saw him as the Continental courier in P.J. and B's "1776" a year ago).

Dale Coye, wrapped in an aproned and epauletted dressing gown as Sergeant Bouncer, is hilariously funny. Just to watch his mobile face is a jnyous experience.

Credit also the crisply cmic choreography by Lynne Dennis. Notice, for example, the nicely timed hitching up of trousers as the two young men sit down. In addition, the shapely hacks of Peggy Forsyth at the piano and whichever of her three page turners is working that evening are fun to watch if ever the stage action flags (hut it doesn't). You can watch them anyway.

One word of warning: be sure to get to the theatre on time. It would be a shame to miss any of the beginning, for the whole play is less than an hour in length. Whatever this "Cox and Box" lacks in quantity, however, it makes up in quality. It is a lark.

Four remaining performances are scheduled this week, Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30. The box office number is 452-8181.

TRIANGLE DUE BACK
For Two Weekend Performances. The Princeton Triangle Club's 88th annual production, a musical titled "Kafka, Tea or Me," will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. The show opened here in late April to general critical acclaim and will go on tour next December, but will not be shown again here.

"One morning Gregor Samsa awoke from uneasy dreams to find himself transformed in his bed into a gigantic insect." So begins Franz Kafka's "Metamorphosis," the unlikely source of "Kafka, Tea or Me."

The improbable plot-line of this musical morality play concerns a young Harvard graduate named Maxwell Sander, a struggling playwright bent on producing serious drama but whose adaptation of "Metamorphosis" bombs when it opens off-Broadway. When another fledgling playwright, Jill Baxter, suggests turning the play into a musical, Maxwell fears for his artistic integrity but reluctantly goes along with the idea.

The result - "Don't Bug Me" - opens to a rave review from the New York Times, becomes a box-office smash and makes instant celebrities of Maxwell and Jill, who land on the cover of People magazine. Maxwell, who by now has become romantically involved with Jill, learns to live with success and survives the metamorphosis of his "Metamorphosis," which in its new incarnation features Siamese twins, ballet dancers out of Bloomingdale's lingerie ads, a nun who says "Mazel Tov," transvestite insects who dance, a barbershop quartet, and an exterminator who falls in love with her prey. Triangle's traditional all-male kickline - sparkling this time sequin-covered bug suits - stops the show as always.

While not exactly regarded as a humorist, Kafka was supposed to have chuckled over his writing desk while penning his bleak fantasies of guilt and death and reputedly read his works to a small circle of friends, who would break into hysterics to the opening line of his tale of Gregor Samsa.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED
For "Sound of Music." Theatre-by-the-Lake has scheduled tryouts for the first show of its fifth season, the classic Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music." Tryouts will take place in Gieger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie School campus, South and Ward streets, in Hightstown on Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10, at 7 p.m.

There are many singing-acting roles for women, including the leading role, Maria, the Mother Abbess, the Baroness and the ingenue lead, Leisel. There is also a chorus of nuns.

Men's roles include Captain Von Trapp, Max Detweiler and Rolf, the male ingenue. There are other non-singing roles for both men and women and seven Von Trapp children's roles, five girls and

AT GROVERS MILL
Show by Helen Schwartz.
Prints, paintings and monotypes by Helen Schwartz will be on display at Grovers Mill Graphics through June.
The gallery is a restored grist mill on Cranbury Road, open Thursday through Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.
The Schwartz exhibit focuses on the local landscape, and also on remembered views and still - life. A collection of monotypes represents a new direction for Mrs. Schwartz. A medium not often used, the monotype is a reconciliation of paint and print techniques with a translucent, fluid nature. Mrs.
Schwartz' use of color, visible in her paintings, underscores

NANTUCKET LIGHT HOUSE at Brandt Point is the Helen Schwartz collection of landscape and still

SCULPTURE ON VIEW
Battle Monument Commemorated. The Princeton Battle Monument and other works by sculptor Frederick MacMonnies is the subject of the Princeton University Art Museum's major summer exhibition, which was planned for this 200th-anniversary year of the Battle of Princeton.
The exhibition will remain until September 18 and the museum hopes that it will result in a greater awareness and appreciation of the Battle Monument at the head of Nassau Street.
MacMonnies, one of the foremost American sculptors of his time, was trained in France in the 1880s and remained there, an expatriate, for much of his life. Nevertheless, he received major American commissions beginning in the 1890s; his last works were executed in the 1930s, shortly before his death.
In 1908, MacMonnies was awarded the Princeton commission, largely at the urging of Professor Allan Marquand, founder of the Department of Art and Archaeology and of the museum, and a major donor of funds for the Battle Monument. There were many delays and changes in the scheme for the monument, but the outbreak of World War I brought MacMonnies back to the United States and the monument was finally completed in 1922. It was dedicated by President Warren G. Harding in June of that year.

In addition to the 16 pieces of sculpture by MacMonnies in the exhibition, there are several drawings and a self-portrait in oils. Some of the works are from the museum's collection; others have been lent by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Williams College Museum of Art, two New York galleries, and several private collectors, including Marjorie MacMonnies Waller, the artist's granddaughter.

The Battle Monument itself is represented in the exhibition by a large photomural and photographs of details. But since the exhibition is in the late spring and summer, museum visitors are able to pleasantly walk the short distance between the monument (in front of Borough Hall) and the museum.
The exhibition was organized by Robert Judson Clark, professor in the Department of Art and Archaeology.
The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4; Sundays from 1 to 5, Sundays from 2 to 4 beginning June 12. The museum is closed Mondays and major holidays, including
July 3 and September 3 and 4.

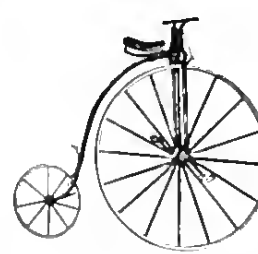

PROPAGANDA ART
At Mercer County College.
An exhibit of 11 original World War II posters, including artist Norman Rockwell's Four Freedoms series, is on display at the Mercer County Community College Library for the month of June. Titled
"A Generation Ago - 1943," the exhibit is composed of posters issued by the U.S.
Office of War Information in the second year of the war.
Popular slogans associated with various wars are found among the posters. For example, the phrase, "An army marches on its stomach," attributed to Napoleon, underscores the meaning of the two illustrations on food rationing.
Frank G. Butorac, director of the library, said of the exhibit, "Viewers are asked to consider the meaning of propaganda, and whether the exhibit posters are 'just propaganda.'"

Winners of the Business and Professional Women's Club 1977 Scholarship Program are Michelle Arden of 148 Springdale Road and Monica Hargraves of The Great Road. Both are seniors at Princeton High School and both will receive $250 to further their education. Miss Arden will attend Harvard University to study engineering, and Miss Hargraves will enroll at Princeton University to study languages.

Mrs. Gloria E. Seitz was chairman of the scholarship committee, which included Miss A. Myrtle Hensor, Mrs. Terry McQuade, Mrs. Margaret Pazdan, Mrs. Nancy Arcamone and Mrs. Polly Beidler.

A member of the Princeton area chapter, National Association of Accountants, Betty V. deSherbinin, of Olden Lane has been selected as Accountant of the Year for the Central New Jersey area. She is secretary and treasurer of Roger Williams Technical & Economic Services, Inc. and is the first woman in this chapter to be so honored. Active in NAA for many years, she first held office in 1971 and this year was elected vice president, communications and public relations.

Accountants living or employed in the area, as well as students of accounting may call Carol A. Elsea at Westminster Choir College for additional information about the chapter.

The Business and Professional Women's Club was awarded third place on the state level in the public relations category at the BPW State Convention held recently in Atlantic City. Among the criteria for the public relations award were regular press coverage, radio announcements, community involvement by the club and its members, photography, and an internal newsletter. The public relations committee of the Princeton club was chaired by Mary Applegate and included Judy Kayle, Elise Lonsdale, Bernice Stein, and Polly Way, as well as Barbara Majarowitz who was in charge of the club's newsletter and Helen Povilaitis who served as club photographer.

The West Windsor Lions Club is again requesting area residents to donate their eyes. The club comments, "Through this generous gift you may give the priceless gift of sight to someone who is now presently blind. This miracle of sight may not be bought, but you have the power to give sight to not one but two others and really involves no sacrifice on the donor's part.

"Nearly 2,000 people have received this gift as a result of the work of the Delaware Valley Eye Bank. The healthy cornea of a deceased person can live on to provide sight for a blind child, a combat veteran or any blind person. The cornea is removed from the eye three to six hours after death and must be transplanted within 48 hours. Contact any Lions Club member, pick up an application blank at Lucar Hardware, Wills Shell, Dr. John DiPolvere, dentist, Dr. Earl Simon, optometrist, the West Windsor Library, or call the West Windsor Lions sight committee chairman, Dr. Earl Simon 799-2474."

Housing For Elderly

project is a higher rateable than it appears!"

Also, PCH will need variances from height and floor-area ratio, as well as parking.

Ceilings Given. Apartments in the building would be rented to individuals whose income is no higher than $8,000 a year. The ceiling for a couple would be $12,000. These figures are constantly being changed, Mr. Kriegman observed.

Princeton residents age 62 or over — Borough and Township — will be given first priority. Parents of people living in Borough or Township would have second priority. It is possible that people who once lived here and had to move, might also be given priority.

Marianne Rees, president of PCH, emphasized that firm policies haven't yet been established. Probably they will be the same as those for PCH's other project, Princeton Community Village.

No waiting list has been set up. People who would like an apartment are asked to wait until PCH makes a formal announcement about applications.

Robert Geddes, architect who designed the building, told Council he'd managed to get 25 percent more units than originally planned — 127 plus a superintendent's apartment, instead of 100.

Most units would be one-bedroom. For security, there will be only one entrance and one lobby. It will be on Hulfish, with a small plaza next to the Luttman shop.

More Details. Along the front, shaded by colorful awnings, Mr. Geddes has planned a community room for dining, cards, meetings, club gatherings. He has conceived it as a room to be used by the town as a whole, but Council member Martin P. Lombardo protested that this might "dilute" its use by the elderly.

Mr. Rees explained that tenants themselves would work that out, as they have in Princeton Community Village.

Secluded, behind a wall, will be a private garden area, next to the on-site parking. On the upper terraces will be room for gardens and Mr. Geddes has planned a greenhouse as well. There will be one laundry room for all tenants. Mr. Kriegman said the Housing Finance Agency prefers a single laundry room, because it gets tenants out of their own apartments and "makes" them socialize.

Mr. Selden suggested PCH confer with the Princeton Medical Center about a room for medical care. Mr. Geddes said the apartment might have room, on its west side, for doctors' offices.

When it was suggested that parking spaces in a garage on Spring Street might be too far for elderly people to walk, Mr. Moran said a trade-off could probably be made so they could park closer to home.

Warm Approval. "My reaction is very favorable!" said Mayor Cawley after Mr. Geddes had described the building. "It meets a very, very important community need."

The current Borough CBD master plan shows a parking garage on this site, and this does raise a planning problem, Mayor Cawley conceded. But he said he believed a solution could be reached. William H. Walker, Planning Board member in charge of CBD planning, has been in on PCH's plans from the start, Mrs. Rees said.

Mr. Moran observed that originally, the University had thoughts of apartments over shops for this area. However, fire codes and shopkeepers' desires for big shops made such a combination "almost impossible." The University has no plans to discontinue the Playhouse, he told Council, although it's too big, is rarely full, and is on very valuable land.

"We are thinking what can be done to strengthen Palmer Square and enliven the downtown," Mr. Moran said. "Probably there would always be a theatre, but not necessarily the Playhouse."

The price PCH pays the University hinges on many things, including the final decision on how many apartments will be in the building. The state's Housing Finance Agency tells PCH how much it can pay and the agency considers local land values in establishing the ceiling.

Mrs. Rees said that she believes Palmer Square, Inc., understands that the amount will undoubtedly be less than PSI could get in the marketplace.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Of all the major league pro sports teams (baseball, football, basketball and hockey), which one holds the record for winning the championship of its league the most consecutive years? ... Answer is the Boston Celtics, who won the championship of the National Basketball Association for 8 straight years, from 1959 through 1966 ... No other major pro team has ever matched that.

Only one person in history has ever won world championships in BOTH golf AND tennis ... The only person to do it was a woman, Lottie Dod of England, who won the Wimbledon tennis crown 5 times, and the women's world golf title once.

One of the most amazing pitching records in recent times is a little-known record by relief pitcher Dale Murray ... He pitched 247 consecutive innings over a 3-year period without giving up ANY home runs ... The streak began in 1974 and was snapped when Bobby Murcer hit a homer off Murray last Aug. 20 ... Not only did Murray go 247 consecutive innings without giving up a home run, but Murcer's homer was only the second one off Murray in 7 years of pro ball!

I bet you didn't know ... that our $10,000 deductible major medical with a $250,000 limit could cost a man age 50, wife age 48 and two children as little as $240 per year.

PDS Athletic Program Attains Major Success After Some Transition Problems in Early Years

Ten years ago this September Princeton Day School fielded its first varsity teams for boys, as male enrollment reached the 12th grade for the first time. (Princeton Country Day which merged with Miss Fine's to form PDS, had only gone through ninth grade.)

The varsity football team, undefeated the previous year in junior varsity competition, played its first contest against crosstown rival Hun and lost, 13-7. It was whipped the following week 40-0 by Chestnut Hill, and wound up with a 2-6 mark.

That was nothing to cheer about, but at least better than the soccer team, which failed to win one of nine games. Basketball did a little better finishing 6-10, but in the spring, baseball and tennis both finished 1-8. Lacrosse struggled to a 3-6 mark; only hockey managed a winning season, one game over .500.

Perhaps the first year can be dismissed, just because it was the first, and the various PDS teams were matched against opponents with years of varsity experience. After all most expansion clubs in major league sports don't do well, either.

But, the poor seasons in most sports continued. With less than 100 boys in the upper three grades it was difficult to fill out some of the teams with enough substitutes. Baseball had only 10 players in 1970, football had only 15 to 17 boys in 1970 and 1971. There was talk of dropping football.

Worse yet was a definite lack of enthusiasm for athletics in general by a significant part of the upper school student body.

The Vietnam War may have played a part in this for a while. Certainly, its repercussions were felt on the college level. But whatever the reason, PDS was losing good student-athletes to other private schools both in and out of the area.

Complete Turnaround. Now almost 10 years later the school has accomplished a complete turnaround. The enrollment of boys in the upper school, up more than 50 percent has been a major factor, but students and faculty alike have also been responsible.

Athletic Director Alan Taback, who joined the school in 1971, recalls that school spirit as far as athletics went was very low when he arrived. "The student body was split into a jock and an anti-sports faction," Taback commented. "Sports were just there, and there was not much interest among many students."

Taback feels the school lost students to other schools in the area, because of the cloud over the athletic program. "PDS was sound academically, it always has been, but athletics are just as important to parents who might want to send their children here," Taback said.

"Athletics are a strong force in the school now, with a great percentage of students involved," Taback added. "PDS is on a par with any private school in the state."

The results over the past few years certainly prove his point. Princeton Day has risen to the top of the State's Class B for prep schools, winning more championships recently than any other school.

Hun Beaten in Football. Football won the title three years in a row, before falling to a 3-4 mark last season. But that had something even more special about it. In the last game of the season, the Panthers upset Hun for their first win ever over the Red and Black on the football field.

Soccer turned around very quickly, winning two titles under coach Peter Buttenheim in the early 70's, and again last year under Tom DeVito. It has not had a losing season since the first one.

Taback, who coaches basketball, changed the direction in that sport soon after he took over the reins. Four consecutive losing seasons were ended in 1972, and PDS has been champion the last four years, with superlative records.

The lacrosse team has enjoyed equal success first under Chuck Simpson and more recently with Bob Krueger as coach. It has state titles stretching back the last three years.

Baseball has had its ups and downs, but this year under DeVito the team finished with its best record ever, 12-4, and the state title for the first time. Only tennis and hockey have had their problems recently.

Both have enjoyed success in the past, especially tennis which won four consecutive championships. Because hockey is not played at many schools in this area, the team has had to play against much stiffer competition. Overall the winning percentage for all sports has risen steadily to .666, and this year Taback predicts it will be even better.

Recruiting Downplayed. Recruiting has not played a big part in this resurgence, Taback asserts. "We have recruited no more than four boys since I came here," Taback said. "Many of the other good athletes have come because they had friends here."

PDS draws several good athletes from the townships surrounding Trenton, but it certainly is not lowering its academic standards in the process. Ron Webster is a senior at Dartmouth, Frank Konstantynowicz is at Harvard and Randy Melville will attend Princeton next fall.

Taking in PG's (post graduate students who have already had four years of high school) who are superior athletes is a practice common at every prep school in the area as well as schools like Exeter and Andover. Exeter once imported enough PG's to guarantee its coach, who was retiring at the end of the season, an undefeated team. PDS has never admitted a PG and does not plan to, Taback says.

Now at the top of the B division both in sports and enrollment, Princeton Day logically will move into the A division within the next few years. Enrollment of boys in the upper school is the determining factor. When PDS passes the 200 mark, it will become a member of the A division.

This will not be any great shock to most of the teams involved. PDS has been playing on a par such schools as Hun, Peddie, Lawrenceville and Newark Academy for the past couple of years. Schedules in all sports have been continually upgraded so that most of the A teams are opponents already. However it will be harder to win the Class A championships.

New sports are also being introduced. Bob Denby coaches squash on the Pretty Brook Club courts during the winter and golf on the Bedens Brook Club course in the fast.

Track and field is the next priority according to Taback. It will be added probably within the next two to three years, with an oval track set to be put around the present varsity football field, the school's budget permitting.

STICKMEN END 9-4

As Mohrman Gets 60th Point. Are you ready for this, Princeton?

Forget DNA, rent-leveling and sewers for a moment and consider this: Morgan Mohrman scored six goals and added four assists as the Princeton High School lacrosse team overwhelmed Moorestown, 16-1, last week in its final game of its best season ever. The 10 points gave the senior attackman 60 for the season. No Little Tiger player has ever come close to duplicating that feat.

"They wanted to show everyone how good we are," said PHS coach Bill Cirullo. "We just blew them out." The final tally for PHS: 9 wins, 4 losses.

"It was an extremely rewarding season," said Cirullo. "We only hoped we could have gone all the way. We wanted a shot at No. 1 Montclair. They weren't on our schedule and we really wanted to meet them in the 'states.' We were one game from it."

Had PHS been able to defeat Clark last week in the opening round of the NJSIAA state competition, it would have advanced to a semi-final confrontation with undefeated Montclair, the top-ranked team in the state.

As it was, the Little Tigers took out their frustration on visiting Moorestown, jumping to a 5-0 lead after the first period. "It took us four minutes to score," commented Cirullo, "but once we started to read their defenses, the goals came thick and fast. Both sports are co-ed."

Five for Adriance. Matt Adriance poured in five goals, it will be added probably Chris Cahill two more and within the next two to three years, with an oval track set to be put around the present varsity football field, the school's budget permitting.

At the end of the season, Princeton's veteran attack of Mohrman, Leshner (31 points) and Adriance (23) had combined for a total of 114 points. They will remain together in college. Cirullo revealed that all three plan to attend Hobart College in New York, the Division 2 national champion averaging more than 20 goals a game.

They will be missed, of course. But Cirullo loses only two more through graduation, Craig Strazza, a defenseman, and goalie Robert Willis. Coming back are two of his three starting defensemen, Keith Wadsworth and Bobby Cooke, and all three starting midfielders.

The latter include Cahill, the third leading scorer on the team with 28 points; Morris, who had 21, and Bobby Campbell, who finished with 20.

"It looks good for next year," acknowledged Cirullo. This year, PHS established a name for itself. Cirullo clearly indicated that next year the Little Tigers want more.

PHS Nine Proved Unbeatable-On First and Last Day of Season

The Princeton High School baseball team, which could do nothing right this season, could do nothing wrong Thursday in its final game of the season with visiting West Windsor.

Behind the five-hit pitching of senior Jim Baxter, the Little Tigers routed the Pirates, 13-0, to end a 16-game losing string. Their first -- and only other win -- came on opening day, April 4, against a fine Lawrenceville School team.

"Nothing," said PHS coach Jim O'Neill, "can make up for the disappointing season we had, but it dulls the pain a little bit. My only consolation is that it sustains my belief that we had some talent on this club."

After erupting for six runs in the first inning, PHS knocked out WW starter Dave Howard in the second with two more. Earlier in the year, Howard had tossed a two-hitter against the Little Tigers while his teammates were rolling up 11 runs.

If it was so hard the previous 16 games, why was it so easy Thursday? Answers to such questions win pennants. "I can't explain it," said O'Neill. "If we can play like that at the beginning and end, there's no reason for us to play like we did in between."

"But it was nice to win like this. We needed it."

Four Seniors Depart. O'Neill said that he doubted if the satisfying ending would have much carryover effect even though he loses only four: Scott Thompson, Bruno Perna, Steve Miller and Baxter.

"I think we have to win more than one to build up the confidence we need. I don't know if we have the best athletes, but I know we have the nicest kids," he said. "I'm happy for them."

He gave some examples. Scott Thompson, a standout glove man at short and leading hitter for the Little Tigers the last two years, had let his average fall below the .250 mark. Against West Windsor, he had three hits including a home run.

"That was the first home run in his varsity career. It was a nice thing to happen his last year," said O'Neill. "He deserves a lot of credit. He took his role as team captain seriously."

Dynamite Curve. Another who deserves credit is Baxter, who suffered through control problems. "We knew all year he had a dynamite curve ball. Today he finally put the ball over and stayed out of trouble. He hadn't pitched like that all spring, but he stuck with it all year long."

Baxter struck out seven, including the side in the second when West Windsor had runners on second and third and no out.

O'Neill's starting lineup included all four seniors. The game began routinely for PHS with Dave Miller grounding out to the pitcher. Then Jamie Robertson and Thompson singled and Keith Phox walked to load them up. Johnny Miller singled home the first two runs.

Tom Breithaupt walked and Steve Miller, with the infield in, hit a blooper over second, scoring two more. "Do you believe that!" said a disgruntled WW fan.

Baxter was out on a close play but another run scored. Miller, up for the second time, then laid down a perfect bunt. The third baseman, seeing he had no play, let it roll, hoping it would curve foul. But the ball rolled straight down the line and hit third base, sending the sixth run across. The Little Tigers could do no wrong this afternoon.

"I had a field day over on third base," said O'Neill later.

"I hadn't seen that many men on base all year."

After Tom Murphy led off with a double down the right field line to open the WW second and Mark Wasco walked, it appeared as if the Pirates would get back in the game when both advanced on a wild pitch. Mixing his pitches well, Baxter struck out the side. End of comeback.

After Thompson's long drive to left rolled for a homer to lead off the Princeton half of the second, Phox followed with Princeton's eighth hit. WW coach Rex Walker had enough. Tom Moore replaced Walker. He walked Perna. Phox was out trying to steal third but Johnny Miller sent Perna home with a triple to deep center.

In the third, PHS loaded the bases again on a hit by Dave Miller, Robertson's double and a walk, but Moore got Phox to hit on the ground and fanned Perna to escape without a run.

Al Kandell MVP. Al Kandell was named most valuable player of the Princeton High School baseball team at the conclusion of the season.

Kandell was unable to enjoy an active role in the Little Tigers' big victory in their final game. He broke his hand a week ago and had to sit out the last two games. "He was dying on that bench," said his coach, Jim O'Neill.

Kandell, a junior, was a pitcher and also played first and centerfield for the Blue and White. Possessor of a natural swing, he was hitting the ball at .375 in mid-season.

Senior Steve Miller was named recipient of the sportsmanship award.

One More Time. In the fourth, PHS teed off again, batting around for the second time. Included in the five-run spurt were a single by Johnny Miller, a double by Dave Miller, a single by Thompson and a double by Phox. In all, PHS connected for 14 hits.

It was all so easy, so effortless. In contrast, for example, to the previous day when PHS had been blanked, 5-0, by Ewing, being held to three singles (two by Phox) by pitcher Jim Prunetti.

Hard-luck starter Carl Nazzaro was struck on the knee by a line drive off the bat of Mel Williams, the fourth batter in the first inning. Ewing had already scored one run and Nazzaro suffered his seventh defeat. PHS committed three errors in the field. It was one of those games -- again -- when nothing went right for PHS.

Indeed, O'Neill had remarked at the start of the WW game that if Princeton played as it did against Ewing, it was going to be another long afternoon. Fortunately, for one glorious afternoon -- the weather was beautiful -- everything went right.

Perhaps it might have been no more, as Nazzaro suggested, than putting iced tea instead of water in the team water cooler. Whatever, PHS won its first Colonial Valley Conference game to prevent it from being shut out in the first year of the Conference's existence.

The two wins were two less than the year before and one less than two years ago. West Windsor lost its 11th in 19 starts.

SECOND BEST IN STATE

PHS Tennis Team. The two top public high school tennis teams in New Jersey clashed Monday afternoon at the Princeton University courts.

When the last ball had been served, the Princeton High School tennis team could boast it was second best in the state, finishing with a 19-2 record. There was no doubt who is number one: Livingston, a Group 4 school and undefeated in 35 matches this year, blanked the Little Tigers, 5-0.

"They did a nice job this year, more than I expected," commented second-year PHS coach Joe Diefenbach. "You couldn't ask for a better bunch of kids."

Although PHS also finished with a 19-2 record in 1976, it was eliminated in the first round of the state public school competition. This year, it survived the first round when it defeated Bernards, Monday morning, 4-1, in the semi-finals. Although the records were the same, PHS advanced one-step farther, Diefenbach pointed out. If the one-step progression holds true, Princeton High will be the top team in the state next year.

It could happen. Livingston fielded an entire senior team except for two junior doubles players. PHS loses four through graduation: Mike Loew, Louis Snijders, Hugo Walter and Seth Sanders. Returning, however, are its top two singles players, Scott Clark and Allen Aronovic.

"You can always count on two wins with Scott and Allen," said Diefenbach. A freshman, Clark ended with an 18-2 record.

Against Livingston, Clark lost, 2-6, 6-7, to Bob Litterest; Aronovic (19-2) lost to Bob Peacock, 6-7, 5-7, in a close match, and Loew came back for an 0-6 loss to Dave Koss in the first set to win five games in the second before losing, 5-7.

Snijders and Walter were no match for Livingston's undefeated tandem of Lance Blake and Mike Jones, losing 1-6, 0-6, while Princeton's number two doubles of Seth Sanders and Pete Wilson bowed, 2-6, 3-6.

In the morning, PHS had little trouble with Bernards, the NJSIAA Group 1 champion (PHS had won the Group 2 NJSIAA title on Saturday).

Clark avenged a summer loss to Bernards' top player, Steve Tourdo, rebounding from a 6-7 tie-breaker loss in the first set to win the next two, 6-2, 6-3. Aronovic won in three sets, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, and Loew made a fine comeback against Rafael Wenenidjian, losing the first set, 1-6, and winning the next two, 6-4, 7-5. Snijders-Walter won, 6-3, 6-1, and Sanders-Wilson lost, 4-6, 4-6 in doubles play.

Sanders-Wilson Decide. Princeton won the Group 2 Title with a dramatic 3-2 victory Saturday over West Orange. It was a singularly satisfying victory for the number two doubles of Sanders and Wilson.

It is no secret that the weak link this year has been the number two doubles for PHS, so the pressure must have been immense as the outcome of the Est Orange contest was up to them.

The match had been tied 2-2 after Clark suffered his first loss of the season, losing a 6-1, 7-6 match to undefeated Tom Lehman and Loew-Walter lost the number one doubles, 3-6, 4-6. PHS drew even on victories in the number two and three singles, Aronovic topping Lawrence Davidson, 6-4, 6-1, and Snijders winning easily, 6-1, 6-1.

Sanders and Wilson won the first set, 6-2, and then clinched the Group 2 state crown with a PHS TENNIS TANDEM: Senior Mike Loew (right) started the season as the playing partner of Hugo Walter to form the number one doubles for Princeton High. Loew has since moved up to the Number 3 singles and Louis Snijders is paired with Walter, as the Little Tigers continue to sweep aside all competition.

7-6 tiebreaker in the second set. All the setbacks throughout the season were absolved in this one memorable triumph.

Earlier in the day, PHS had defeated Gateway, 4-1, to advance to the finals with West Orange.

In his two years, Diefenbach has guided the Little Tigers to a 38-4 record and numerous divisional titles. "We're going to have a strong team next year," he predicted. Maybe just strong enough to go all the way.

ON TO THE FINALS

For PHS Tennis Team. Last year, the Princeton High School tennis team went all the way, winning the NJSIAA Groups 1 and 2 state championship when it defeated Ocean City, 4-1, in the finals.

This spring, the Little Tigers give every indication of repeating.

The Blue and White advanced to the Central Jersey Group 2 finals last week (PHS is competing only in Group 2 this year) with a 4-1 victory over Metuchen at the Middlesex County College courts.

Undefeated Scott Clark (15-0) kept his number 1 singles record unsullied with a 6-1, 6-0 win over Alan Sinett. Once-defeated Allen Aronovic (15-1) stopped Perry Sinett, 6-1, 6-3, while Mike Loew, the number three singles, triumphed 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 over Evan Spritzer.

Louis Snijders and Hugo Walter of PHS captured the number one doubles, defeating Lee Sinett and Scott Porty, 6-3, 7-6, while Seth Sanders and Pete Wilson lost in three sets, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5, for Princeton's only setback.

After drawing an opening round bye, Princeton defeated Rumson 5-0, in Central Jersey competition. It began the week with a 5-0 victory over St. Anthony to clinch first place in the Colonial Valley Conference, where it is undefeated.

The Little Tigers' only loss this year has been to Christian Brothers Academy.

HUN ELIMINATED

From Penn-Jersey Playoff. In his first five years Hun School baseball coach Bill McQuade had been compiling a standout record; none of his teams ever lost more than six games.

This sixth season has been different.

Hun lost its 12th game last Wednesday when it was eliminated by Pennington School, 7-3, in the first round playoff for the Penn-Jersey League championship. Pennington (11-5) advanced to the finals with Academy of New Church for the league title.

Mental and physical errors, inability to come up with the big hit at the right time have caused Hun to sputter to a 9-12 mark so far, thus assuring its first season under 500 since McQuade took over. They combined to bring Hun down again against Pennington.

The turning point, according to McQuade, came midway in the game, when Pennington had runners on second and third and no one out. Hun hurler Fred Wollman was able to retire the next two batters on groundouts.

However, when the next batter hit a comebacker to Wollman on the mound, he bobbled the ball before throwing wildly, allowing two unearned runs to score and Pennington to take a 4-3 lead.

Earlier, Hun's Jimmy Cortina belted a leadoff triple but Hun was unable to bring him around.

The home-team Red Raiders scored two more insurance runs in the sixth off tiring Hun reliever Rich Arbitelle, combining four walks, a hits batsman and a safety. Tim Teel's double was one of Hun's seven hits, the same number collected by Pennington.

"We didn't come through with the big play at the right time. We left too many men in scoring position," said McQuade. Fred Falchi got the win for Pennington, his fourth in seven decisions. He also aided his own cause by connecting for a single and double. Wollman took the loss.

Two Wins in Two Days. To make it to the four-team league playoff, Hun had to win its previous two games. It did in convincing fashion with back-to-back wins over Girard College and Pennsylvania Deaf School, scoring 26 runs.

Tom Dillione paced Hun to a 13-3 win over Girard. He pitched four-hit ball and had a homer and RBI single. It was his second win against four setbacks.

The previous day, Arbitelle fired a three-hitter against the Deaf School, en route to his first win and a 13-0 shutout. He was backed up at the plate by Bob Kwiatkowski who homered, Wollman who tripled and Cortina who doubled.

"With the potential we had at the start of the year, I knew it was going to be close," said McQuade who had to go with several sophomores in key positions. "The hitting was there but we made far too many mental mistakes and a lot of physical errors."

"But they're young kids," he added, implying that next year the mental errors will be behind them.

HUN FALLS AGAIN

Pingry Wins, 6-4. The Hun School baseball team lost another game last week, dropping a 6-4 decision Friday to Pingry, its thirteenth in 22 starts.

"We're young. We're making an awful lot of mistakes; I hope we're learning from it," said a resigned Bill McQuade, coach of the Red and Black. "It's a shame we didn't put it together this year," he added.

Mistakes again led to this latest downfall for Hun, which outhit Pingry, 7 to 4. Five of Pingry's runs were unearned, said McQuade, the result of walks, two hit batsmen and mental errors.

McQuade started Rocky DaBronzo and the freshman went to distance, yielding only four hits, one a bunt single. "It was a learning experience for him," said McQuade, who can only think now in terms of next year.

TURNER IS SECOND

In Long Jump. In the Central Jersey Group 2 sectional championships held Saturday at Highland Park, Princeton High School's Barry Turner was second in the long jump with a leap of 20-7.

The event was won by Hopewell Valley's Jim Steen with 21-3½. Steen also set a new meet and Mercer County record in the high jump, clearing the bar at 6-8.

Metuchen and Somerville tied for first place in the Group 2 team standings with 34 points. Hopewell Valley was fourth with 24, while Princeton High was tenth among the 13 competing teams with 5.

Earlier in the week, PHS finished its regular dual season mark at 5-5 when it trounced winless St. Anthony, 108 to 23. The Little Tigers swept every event but the two-mile and high jump.

STATE CHAMPIONS THIRD CONSECUTIVE YEAR: Their style of play on the field was considerably more organized than this picture, but members of the Princeton Day lacrosse team which won its third state championship in the prep school B division, felt this more accurately portrayed the free spirit of the team. From left are (first row): co-captain Mark Zawadsky, Tom Gates, Tim Brush, Peter Buck and Skip Guarin. (Middle row): Tim Murdock, Jim Jeffers, John Sweeney, Doug Fein, John Rodgers, Don Gips, Will Kain, Jay Itzkowitz, Burr Stoner and Lucky Pyne. (Back Row): Rob Olsson and Kent Wilkinson. The other co-captain, John Haroldson was absent.

Andy Logan won both the 120 high hurdles and 330 intermediate hurdles with times of 17.3 and 42.9. He also was a member of the winning mile relay team (3:51.3) that included Bob Wyland, Mike Greenstein and Lance Phox. Phox won the 220 in 24.1 and Wyland the 440 in 54.9.

Other winners for PHS were Tony Strong in the 100-yard dash, Nick Piroue in the mile and Brad Ogilvie in the 880. Field event victors were Eric Suber, shot put; Mike King, discus; Tony Intartaglia, javelin; Bob Ayling, pole vault; and Turner in the long jump. Turner's winning jump measured 20-4 1/2.

PDS NINE IS BLANKED

In Final Game. The pressure was off for the Princeton Day baseball team in its final game against Trenton High, and it was just as well.

Having captured the Class B prep championship two days earlier, the Panthers left their bats at home losing to Trenton, 4-0, on a one-hitter thrown by John Spiegel. The Trenton hurler retired the first eight men he faced, and held the Blue and White hitless until one out in the fourth when Mike Walters lned a single to center. Spiegel walked two and fanned five.

Losing pitcher Dave Barondess pitched well enough to win most games, limiting the Tornados to just two singles over the first four innings. However, like the Saddle River pitcher on Monday, two lead off walks in the fifth proved his undoing.

A following single loaded the bases with none out. Barondess was not helped when his battery mate John Hickling dropped a foul pop near the plate. PDS argued that the Trenton High batter had interfered, but to no avail. Given a second life, the batter smashed an infield hit off the glove of Lou Guarino for the first run. Barondess then balked home another, and two more followed on sacrifice flies.

The loss dropped the team's record to 12-4, still the best ever in varsity competition. And it certainly was no embarrassment. Trenton finished 15-4 overall.

PDS PLACES FOUR

On All-State Lacrosse. Seniors Mark Zawadsky, John

Haraldson and junior Rob Olsson have been named to the all-state prep lacrosse team, according to PDS coach Bob Krueger.

Zawadsky, who was probably the highest scoring player in the state this year, had 43 goals and 24 assists for the season, more than some teams managed. He and Haraldson played attack, while Olsson was a midfielder. Don Gips, a defenseman, was named to the second team.

Olsson and Zwadsky have been nominated by the B league coaches for All-American honors. If the A division coaches concur, their names will be forwarded to the national lacrosse organization for final determination.

In another honor for the Class B champions, Krueger was named coach of the year. He has coached PDS to three consecutive titles Zawadsky was voted most valuable player, while Tim Murdock received recognition for most improved. Selected by teammates as tri-captains for next year were Olsson, Gips and Goalie Lucky Pyne.

Krueger loses three of his four attackmen next year, but has four of six midfielders returning, and all of the defense. It should be another strong season for the Panthers

GFDL NOW 5-0

In Business Softball League. Always tough, McGraw Hill and ETS are off to their usual quick starts with perfect 4-0 records after the fifth week of play in The Princeton Business Softball League. Upstart GFDL, with an undefeated mark of 5-0, leads the National Division and should provide perennial division leader McGraw Hill with a struggle for the division title. In the American Division, ETS, and PPL-Forrestal are tied for the lead with 4-0 records.

GFDL won its fifth game with a 10-5 victory over American Can. GFDL's player - manager Ted Terpstra was a one-man wrecking crew at the plate going 4 for 4; including a home run, driving in four runs and scoring three. Winning pitcher Russ Sinclair raised his record to 4-0.

Mathematica won its third straight game with a convincing 17-5 victory over Ingersoll Rand and shipped past RCA into third place. Rookie first baseman Dave Kershaw (4-4) and Chip Richardson (3-3; one home run) provided the offensive punch. Paul Ressler, the winning pitcher, increased his record to 3-0 and helped his own cause with a three-run homer. Ingersoll Rand squelched a late inning Mathematica rally with a triple play.

Dave Duque's 4-for-4 performance at the plate powered ERC-Western Electric to a 10-7 victory over RCA keeping ERC in the thick of the National Division race. Bob Oehrle evened his record at 1-1 and added a home run.

The ranks of the undefeated in the American Division were reduced to two as Tubesales, behind home runs by Bob Jenkins and Joe Trosky, knocked off previously unbeaten FMC, 10-6. Aided by fine defensive support, winning pitcher Tom Samanick won his first victory of the season

In a low scoring battle, PPL-Forrestal remained undefeated by squeaking by New Jersey Bell, 4-1. A stellar defensive effort by third baseman Ray Pressburger was all winning pitcher Joe Frangipani needed to increase his flawless record to 4-0.

In a closely contested battle, Firmenich held off American Cyanamid by a score of 6-4. Winning pitcher Bob Davanis improved his mark to 2-1.
